Housing Slump Blamed

School Unit Shelved

Plans for a new seventh and eighth grade school in the Jefferson Elementary School District have been shelved, because the district lacks sufficient projected enrollment to fill an additional facility.

In fact, the district's superintendent, Frank Greenwood, Monday night told trustees "house counts" statistics show present school facilities adequate for another 943 pupils, from kindergarten through eighth grade.

Last year's slackening of housing construction is blamed, in part, for the situation, a report filed by Greenwood indicated.

Greenwood said one of his first suggestions soon after he became superintendent in 1965 was to call for a bond election to meet expenses of future building, because "indications at that time pointed to a shortage of student housing at the seventh and eighth grade level in the foreseeable future."

He noted projections show that even after construction of the as-yet-unbuilt Woodrow Wilson School, the district would be entitled to about 26,000 square feet more space.

This, however, was insufficient to build a school for 800 to 1,000 students, since the minimum required to house only 800 students was 56,000 square feet.

Then, Greenwood said, in May of 1965, a five-year project for site acquisition indicated an estimated enrollment of 13,505 — an increase of about 800 students annually through 1970.

And, in March of 1966, a preliminary projection of growth "led me to believe that the district could qualify for enough new construction to accommodate 12,900 children."

He cited statements by area builders to arrive at projection counts, Greenwood stated, and final estimates showed an entitlement of over 78,000 square feet for new school construction.

Subsequently, the information went to Sacramento and the district began plans for another school.

"I also informed the P-TA presidents of this estimate," Greenwood explained, "stating we would have the classroom sections finished shortly thereafter."

The application for the space was filed in September of 1966, was returned from the State Department of Education with an authorization for 78,000 square feet on November 30.

However, just prior to that approval — in October — the State Department of General Services questioned the application and asked for a current house count and enrollment.

Greenwood called a meeting in hopes of clarifying for the district its exact entitlement. The result was that the district had to conduct a current house

Patrol Warns D. C. Firm On Upkeep

By FRANK LaPIERRE

A thinly-veiled threat to impose fines and possible jail sentences was leveled against the Northgate Transit Company by an official of the Highway Patrol during a Public Utility Commission hearing regarding poor maintenance practices yesterday.

During the hearing before PUC examiner Donald B. Jarvis, CHP maintenance supervisor Elton Mattoon was asked what his office intended to do "if Northgate Transit Company did not maintain their buses in accordance with state safety regulations?"

"If this equipment (buses) is not maintained and operated properly I will file complaints against them as provided in Vehicle Code 34506," Mattoon said over the objections of defense attorney Harry Grover.

Mattoon said punishment under this law carries a maximum $500 fine or six months in jail on each count, adding "the matter of poor maintenance of equipment and records at the Northgate Company has been experienced by my offices for more than a year."

On Monday, first day of the two-day hearing, conducted in the Daly City council chambers, examiner Jarvis heard six hours of testimony regarding the company's alleged poor maintenance and violations of state safety regulations from

Principal Named

Pagani Is District Personnel Chief

Trustees of the Jefferson Elementary School District Monday named Don Pagani, 46, the district's personnel director, a new position.

The appointment of Pagani, presently principal of the Margaret Pauline Brown School, climaxed a search of local and out-of-town talent, Supt. Frank Greenwood explained.

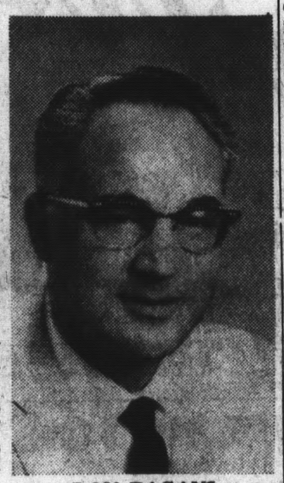

Pagani, who was graduated from San Francisco State, has 20 years experience as a teacher and an administrator.

Thirteen of his years in education have been as a principal.

Since becoming a principal, Pagani, who has served under five district superintendents, has been in charge of General Pershing and Crocker Schools, in addition to his curent assignment.

He and his family live in Daly City.

Pagani will assume his new post January 23. The position carries a salary of $16,500 annually.

DON PAGANI

Trustees also named Jefferson Elementary Principal Thomas Natoro as the M. Pauline Brown School principal, those duties to be handled simultaneously with his current work.

Bicycles for Youngsters Led To Bruno Police Suspensions

The recent suspension of six San Bruno policemen was a "disciplinary measure imposed for the unauthorized removal of confiscated property," a reliable source revealed.

The spokesman, who asked to remain anonymous, said the suspensions "were over the unauthorized removal of two or three-year-old bicycles from a collection of junk the department accumulated during the past year."

A large number of bicycles and other items are turned into the department each year, and if not claimed are sold at auction at the end of the year.

"Two or three new policemen asked their superiors if they could take a bicycle home to their children for Christmas," the spokesman said, "and they were given permission. However, the officers releasing the property were not authorized to do so."

The officers who removed the bicycles, along with those who granted permission, were suspended without pay from three to ten days.

One officer, Sgt. Richard Delucchi, who had been with the department about four years, resignation was not wholly due pension. Delucchi indicated his resignation was not wholly due to the impending suspension, and he had been "waiting to quit for a long time."

The other six officers are all back on duty.

College Calls For Skyline Campus Bids

San Mateo Junior College District called for bids Monday on constructing the first of two major buildings for Skyline College in San Bruno.

Total cost of the job is estimated from $5.2 million to $5.8 million.

District Trustees, meeting at College of San Mateo, approved the administration's plans for kicking off the construction program, which is aimed at having the new colleges ready for students by September, 1968.

The timetable calls for opening the first Skyline buildings on February 16. Thus construction at Skyline could start by March.

"So much will depend on how the bids come in," said Dr. Julio L. Bortolazzo, district superintendent. "We'll know only then how we stand financially. The most I can say now is that I am assured this is a good time for us to start, as far as the bidding climate is concerned."

First buildings for Skyline will be the science and technical-vocational complex, and the fine arts center. These provide the adademic core of the campus and also provide for the major utility center, administrative offices, little theater and a large number of classrooms. Next will come the main gymnasium and perhaps, if bids are sufficiently favorable, the covered swimming pool and other physical education facilities.

The trustees approved a 50-50 cost-sharing agreement with the City of San Bruno for entry roads to the Skyline campus and authorized putting the project out to bid when plans are ready.

The district and the city each will pay an estimated $96,500 for work on College Drive and, if state gas tax funds are available to San Bruno, $20,000 for improving Susan Drive.

The City of Pacifica has agreed to improve the Sharp Park Road-Susan Drive intersection, and to perform major additional work on Sharp Park Road at its own expense.

Hearing On Incinerator Is Scheduled

A hearing on the proposed establishment of a garbage incineration plant in South San Francisco's industrial area scheduled for February 20 at Monday's caucus meeting of the city council.

Mayor Frank Bertucelli said councilmen had planned to set the meeting for an earlier date, but it was postponed at the request of attorneys for the South San Fran isco Industrial Park Association and other firms and organizations appealing the use permit.

Tragoutsis and Capaccioli, attorneys representing Wilson and George Meyer and Company, Gilmore and Company, and other member firms of the association said they believe "some sort of agreement can be reached" if more time is allowed for private discussion before the hearing is held.

At least four individual firms, the South San Francisco Industrial Park Association and the Peninsula Manufacturers' Association have appealed the planning commission's decision of three weeks ago to grant a use permit to the South San Francisco Scavenger Company for the plant.

Councilmen indicated they preferred to open the hearings February 6, but the meeting was postponed after attorneys for the neighboring firms said their clients feel the matter "is being stampeded through the council."

"This thing should not be done in haste," attorneys said, "and we should be given time to prepare alternatives."

Freeway Is Protested In Petitions

A petition signed by 40 residents of the Escanyo Drive area in South San Francisco protesting the proposed Westborough Freeway route through the neighborhood was presented to the City Council Monday.

D. F. Gamma, president of the Rancho Buri Buri Homeowners Association, told the council "some alternate route should be proposed," and color pictures showing the spectacular view over Country Club golf course which would be blocked by the freeway were passed among councilmen.

The homeowner association proposed that the freeway route be relocated further into the golf course, and demonstrated that several residences on Escanyo Drive will have no view at all if the presently proposed route is used.

Murder Clues Sought

Pacifica police inspectors are continuing systematic search for any clues that might lead to the killer of a 32-year-old Monterey display artist in that city last week.

The savagely beaten and stabbed body of Theodore Young was discovered by Carl Blatz, 1125 Leavenworth Street, San Francisco, shortly after 8 p.m. last Thursday.

Blatz, who lives with his mother in San Francisco, was a close friend of the victim and owner of the Pacifica home where Young was staying.

Police said Young moved into Blatz' Pacifica home shortly after his Pacific Grove apartment was gutted by fire last month.

According to Police Inspector Al Tibaldi, Blatz phoned Young early Thursday evening. When there was no answer to his repeated phone calls, Blatz elected to drive to Pacifica to see his friend.

Arriving at 8 p.m., Blatz found the house apparently vacant and entered.

Young's bloody and trussed body was laying face up on the living room floor surrounded by broken bottles, a bloody fireplace poker, smashed lamps and overturned furniture.

Inspector Tibaldi said the house "was a shambles" but Blatz informed police nothing of value appeared to be missing.

No motive had as yet been established for the brutal murder, "and it really looks like a tough one," Tibaldi told The Times.

He said there were no signs of forced entry into the home.

Brien Wins School Post

James R. Brien, assistant superintendent of the Chico Unified School District, was named to the post of assistant superintendent for education of Laguna Salada Union School District last Tuesday night.

Trustees chose Brien from 16 applicants interviewed for the job by a team of consultants.

He is married and has three children.

Mystery Motorist Hunted

By DON GRIERSON

San Bruno police are searching for a "mystery motorist" who retrieved a revolver thrown from a speeding car on Bayshore Freeway January 6.

Detective Ed Gilmore said several persons reported seeing a driver stop and pick up the gun from the pavement about 3:15 p.m. between the San Bruno Avenfue overpass and the Airport overpass.

Gilmore said the gun, a blue steel revolver with brown handles, is believed to be the weapon used in the robbery of a San Bruno grocery store.

"The gun fits the victim's description of the weapon used in the robbery," Gilmore said, "and it was thrown out on ehe freeway minutes after the robbery occurred at 3 p.m."

Also, the car from which the gun was thrown fitted the description of a car containing three men arrested as suspects in the robbery, police said.

California Highway Patrolmen apprehended Emile Lucas, Aldon A. Stewart and Raymond Hilliard near the Burlingame turnoff after a high-speed chase down Bayshore. The three men have been charged with holding up Alef's Grocery on San Mateo Avenue in San Bruno.

"We would very much like to have this gun returned," Gilmore said. "It could be a very important piece of evidence. We urgently request that whoever picked it up either bring the gun to the station or mail it in. There will be no questions asked."

$5,000 Seen As Hotel Tax In Pacifica

Pacifica could expect to reap from a hotel-motel tax "under $5,000," acting City Mgr. James Swayne told city councilmen last Wednesday night.

Swayne said the figure was prepared by former City Mgr. Karl Baldwin.

A $300-Million Transit Plan for County Outlined

Preliminary plans for a $300,000,000 extension of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District (BARTD) system through San Mateo County were outlined Monday to directors of the West Bay Rapid Transit Authority.

The proposal is essentially the same as the one rejected in 1961 when the county withdrew from BARTD. It does, however, make provision for feeder lines and parking lots that were lacking in the BARTD plan.

Extension of the BARTD system through the county is only one of four general concepts being studied by the West Bay Authority. The other concepts include improvement of the existing Southern Pacific commute system, a combination of SP and BARTD, and an all-bus system. San Mateo County voters will be asked to approve a master transit plan next year.

If the BARTD extension is deemed to be the best plan, consulting engineers told West Bay directors yesterday, it should extend from the proposed BARTD station in Daly City to San Bruno via the old Market Street Railway right of way and then to the south county line along the Southern Pacific alignment.

Part of the line, in the north county area, would be elevated. Other sections would be depressed but most would be at ground level.

Stations would be spaced an average two miles apart.

Grade separations would be provided at all major crossings.

Consultant Robert Emerich said preliminary talks have been held with technical staffs in each city about the possible location of stations and other details. Special problems in San Mateo and San Bruno have been given special attention, he said,

Landi Trial Is Underway

George Cunnings of Millbrae, scheduled to testify for the state in the Alvin Prara bookmaking trial next week, was to be called today as a defense witness in another bookmaking case.

Daniel Modena, attorney for Lido Landi of Pacifica, said he would call Cunnings in an effort to refute charges that Landi was tied in with a bookmaking operation that Cunnings allegedly headed.

In addition to bookmaking charges, Landi, 37, a Pacifica grocer and well-known amateur golfer, is accused of the attempted bribery of a Pacifica police officer, Paul Averiett.

Cunnings was once a codefendant with Landi but charges were dismissed against him in exchange for his testimony against Prara, the sheriff's captain who is accused of being on Cunnings' payroll.

Trial is being held without a jury in the courtroom of Superior Judge Frank W. Rose.

Most of the evidence introduced yesterday by Deputy District Attorney Wilbur Johnson were secret tape recordings of conversations between Averiett and Landi. Averiett testified that he was wearing a hidden microphone and transmitter during the conversations and that recordings were made by Inspector M. L. Greenfield of the district attorney's office.

The transcripts show that Landi "guaranteed" Averiett $150 a week to tip him about any bookmaking investigations.

"If you hear anything," Landi is quoted, "just let me know. Just give me a buzz and say you'll meet me for coffee. I'll know what you're talking about."

In a later conversation, Landi changed the offer to $150 a month, according to the transcript.

At the outset of the trial, Modena was allowed to call his associate, Thomas L. Bocci, as a character witness for Landi.

Bocci said Landi is a personal friend and that he has an excellent reputation. Among his other attributes, Bocci said, has been his work on behalf of the campaigns of several Superior Court judges.

Contractors Gain Time On Crespi School Work

Contractors on Phase I construction of the Laguna Salada Union School District's ill-fated Crespi School asked and received another extension of time on the project Tuesday night, further lessening chances that the school will be completed in time for the 1967-68 term.

Trustees granted an extension of 14 calendar days, moving the completion date for Phase I construction to February 23.

Reasons given for the extension request were rain and wet grounds.

The board granted a 43-day extension last month after contractors reported difficulties in obtaining drainage pipes for the site and trouble with location of the key.

District Architect Harold Crosby and Supt. Frederick Lucas said there is no way to determine whether or not the school will be completed by the September deadline.

"There are just too many variables," the school officials said.

However, Lucas said he is "still hopeful" that the project will be completed in time.

Crosby said the contract for building construction on the project allows 275 days for completion.

If maximum construction time is utilized by the building contractor, the project will not be completed until mid-November, more than two months after school begins.

The school has been plagued with difficulties from the beginning, with the first delays resulting from court litigation over acquisition of land. More than a year was required to settle the land dispute.

When completed, the school will accommodate 550 elementary students.

Bruno Theft— Shotgun Gone

Sam Stagnaro, a San Bruno building contractor, last week reported to police the theft of a 12-guage shotgun from his pickup, parked in front of his home at 710 Pine Street.

The shotgun was taken between the afternoon of December 9 and last night.

CHP inspector Albert Lockefeer.

Lockefeer retraced the Northgate Company's maintenance history over the past three years and told the hearing much of the discrepancies found during periodic inspections of the transportation firm's 14 vehicles could have resulted in serious accidents endangering the lives of passengers.

The records did, however, indicate the company had made substantial progress in solving maintenance problems and related defects during this same span of time.

At the recommendation of the CHP, the Northgate Company employed a full-time general manager, a large structure capable of housing all the company's buses and, recently, a qualified vehicle mechanic.

The hearing was informed further by Atty. Grover that a systematic program of inspections and repair had been instituted by his client and most of the problems would likely be alleviated in the near future.

Commission Staff Atty. S. M. Boikan introduced some 30 separate records to back up the state's claim of poor maintenance and inadequate repair of vehicles.

Boikin pointed out that three years ago a rate fare increase was granted contingent on the Northgate Company "bringing their equipment up to accepted standards," adding "this hasn't been done as yet."

"Do we have to wait until there is a tragedy on the streets of this city before we do something?" Atty. Boikan asked, directing his remarks at no one in particular. "When will they (Northgate Transit) begin to fulfill its obligations?"

In a prepared report on service and operations of the bus company, H. H. Nichols, associate transportation engineer for the PUC, also related the history of the maintenance "difficulties" surrounding the Northgate Company, concluding:

"Northgate Transit Company has been negligent in complying with the requirements that it institute a satisfactory preventive maintenance system for its vehicles . . . should assume responsibility for all vehicle inspections and repairs necessary if the vehicles are to be kept in compliance with safety rules and regulations of the California Highway Patrol."

Examiner Jarvis was expected to study the matter and hand down a ruling sometime next month, according to a PUC official.

If the Northgate Transit Company does not agree with Jarvis' ruling they may appeal to the Commission, and, finally, to the State Supreme Court.

$300-Million Transit Plan Summarized

and additional discussions are scheduled in each of the cities.

As outlined, stations, extending southward from the BARTD station in Daly City, would be placed at these locations: San Pedro Road, Chestnut Avenue, Tanforan area, International Airport, Millbrae, Burlingame, San Mateo downtown, Hillsdale, Belmont, San Carlos, Redwood City and Menlo Park.

Glen Ireland, who served as West Bay's first general manager, noted that the proposed station near Oak Grove Avenue in Burlngame would take the place of the two existing stations. He recalled that when Southern Pacific proposed the same thing, it was opposed by Burlingame merchants.

Consultant Gustav Jamart said there has been some thought of combining the San Carlos and Belmont stations.

Even if trains stopped at all stations, which would probably be the case, they should average better than 50 miles an hour, Jamart said.

The estimated cost of $300,000,000 for the BARTD line in San Mateo County does not include the cost of "buying in" to pay a pro rata share of the district's costs to date. West Bay directors are considering seeking legislation this year that would clarify what the "buying in" costs would be.

Plans for Jeff Building Shelved

count and submit a new application.

Greenwood got his figures on January 9.

"The projection of the district's enrollment, based on those presently enrolled, plus the new house count, erased any hope we had of building the new seventh and eighth grade school in the coming year," said Greenwood.

He explained this as "understandable when it is realized that the application approved for the construction of J. F. Kennedy and Woodrow Wilson indicated adequate housing for 10,600 kindergarten through eighth grade students."

He added, "Today's enrollment is only 9,757. There were 1,349 homes under construction at the time we made our (first) application. Today there are less than 600 homes being built."

Why the change?

Greenwood said there was a marked drop in student enrollment since the 1964-65 school term; indeed, there are 81 fewer students.

He said new homes and apartment house construction had dropped, which alone eliminated almost 48,000 square feet of school building construction.

In addition, homes and apartments which were used to justify new schools on previous applications have since been completed, and occupied — but have not produced the number of students anticipated.

In reviewing district school housing facilities — as compared to the projected enrollments—the district administration has concluded there will be adequate housing for every child in the district with the completion of the Woodrow Wilson School; housing at the Colma and Ben Franklin Schools is adequate to handle all seventh and eighth graders as growth in this area "will be nil."

Site preparation work on the new seventh and eighth-grade school site is nearly complete. It will be left that way, without further improvement until enrollment permits another application for space. Woodrow Wilson School plans have been revised, Greenwood declared, and will be advertised for bid today, with bids to be opened on February 20.

Judge Blum Is Improving

Superior Judge Frank Blum of Daly City is reported in "satisfactory and improving" condition at Mary's Help Hospital today, where he is recovering from a heart attack.

Judge Blum was hospitalized January 6 after becoming ill at his home, and was confined to the hospital's intensive care unit several days.

SSF Trustees OK A Master Plan

South San Francisco Unified School District trustees approved long-range plans to meet the district's "ultimate needs" in the area of school construction last week.

The "master plan for future building sites" calls for the addition of two junior high schools and four elementary schools to the district.

In other business at the regular meeting Monday night, trustees granted contractors on Phase I construction of the new Skyline School, a 14-day extension in contract time.

The Dickman Construction Company requested the extension because of delays from rain.

The new projected date of completion of the school is August 2, 1967.

The board approved the addition of two employes to the district's maintenance staff, and the advertising for bids on three used pickup trucks. The additional personnel and trucks will be used throughout the district, trustees said.

The South San Francisco High School and El Camino High School bands' annual trip to the Nevada Stage Band Festival at Reno, was approved.

A purchase order for electrical equipment at Parkway and Los Cerritos Schools was awarded to ennedy Electri Company and Arc Electric Company, low bidders on the contract.

3 Machines Office Loot

Office machines valued at more than $1,000 were stolen from the Crestwood Lumber Co. offices at 332 North Canal Street in South San Francisco over the weekend, police reported.

$2,000,000 Suit in S.S.F.

A $2,000,000 suit for damages has been filed on behalf of an Oakland man whose head was crushed in a freak accident at the F. W. Woolworth warehouse in South San Francisco last November 9.

The suit, filed by Attorney Robert A. Tarver of Burlingame, states that the victim, James R. Melin, 33, was permanently and totally disabled in the accident.

Police reported at the time that Melin, a truck driver, had delivered some goods to the warehouse and loaded them on an automatic elevator. As the elevator started to rise, Melin dropped some papers and reached down to retrieve them. At that point, the elevator came down on Melin and crushed him.

The suit asks $1,000,000 general damages and the same amount in punitive damages on on the claim that the elevator was defective and dangerous and was in violation of at least six sections of the State Labor Code.

The warehouse is at 570 Eccles Avenue.

Club President Is D.C. Woman

Miss Loretta DiRienzo of Daly City, president of the San Francisco Chapter of the California Association of Medical Laboratory Technologists, will open the group's first meeting of the year, January 24, at the Irwin Memorial Blood Bank on Masonic and Turk Streets.

Dirt Riders

Le Pacini

Dirt riders may be the most abused segment of America's sporting fraternity since the Chicago Black Sox, but not for so nearly as legitimate a reason.

For those unfamiliar with the term, dirt riders are motorcyclists often depicted in the entertainment media as dirty, troublemaking bums, and continually equated by the public with the Hell's Angels. Actually, the genuine dirt rider is generally a respectable young working man, who enjoys the sport of whipping a speeding motorcycle around a spacious, uninhabited countryside on weekends, and who just as often is entered in legitimate, organized club races on authorized tracks.

Motorcycling is not a rare sport. Thousands of people across the nation have made it into a multi-million dollar enterprize, and in this area alone there are approximately 250 meets a year open to the public, not counting individual club racing events.

If dirt riding, then, is so popular and legitimate, why the public scorn? We asked Ted Newby, formerly of South City, now a San Francisco elevator repair man. Newby, a dirt rider for two decades, long-time member of both the San Francisco and Bay City motorcycle clubs, and a starter for numerous races had some enlightening views.

As Newby sees it, the three biggest problems facing dirt riders (not necessarily in order of importance), are California's burgeoning population, the Hell's Angels image, and the lack of financial backing within the group.

The population explosion has left few backroad areas (contrary to popular belief, true dirt riders DON'T enjoy racing up and down city streets). About all that remains "locally" are areas of Walnut Creek, Woodside, Pescadero, Clear Lake, and, if you're a rider who likes rocks, the Sierras.

Certain Pacifica locations were prime areas until local unnattached (not belonging to recognized clubs) riders began abusing people and property, and public pressure on politicians forced bike riders, including the legitimate ones, out. Ironically, the rogue riders even harassed the Bay City Motor Club, which had been using an area just south of Linda Mar called the Bay City Motor Playland. The club strung cables across its property to keep undesirables out, but the undesirables merely unsaddled and crawled under the cable, dragging their bikes with them.

If you're thinking about San Francisco property, forget it. Prices on the land there are prohibitive. Newby does believe, however, that it's still possible to work something out in the immediate area, as the City of Oakland has done in providing acreage for dirt riders in the Oakland Hills. He feels the best chance locally is to try to change minds in Pacifica.

One of the loudest complaints voiced by the public is the noise motorcycles produce, but given proper areas in which to ride, the noise wouldn't be within public earshot, and, of course, the "image" would be out of sight.

The problem of finances exists, as Newby points out, because dirt riding is essentially a young man's avocation, and men between the ages of 18-25 (Newby figures that is the mean age group of dirt riders) simply haven't accumulated enough money, prestige and important friends within the community to wield any efficient political power. He says that the older, influential men in the area still connected with the sport are not only too few, but generally unwilling to help for various reasons, not the least of which is "image."

★ ★ ★

"Image" is not as concrete a problem to solve as population or finances. Compared to dirt riders, Mack the Knife is a hero. There are two basic reasons for the smeared image, contends Newby, the main one being, naturally, the Hell's Angels, the other being the very nature of dirt riding. "Dirt," one must admit, doesn't exactly conjure of a picture of Pat Boone. As Newby says, "Hell, you try riding around back roads all day and you'd be dirty, too. It's a dirty sport, but that doesn't mean the riders are dirty."

What really hurts men like Newby is the occasional abuse they take from a public which sometimes acts no better that it is claimed dirt riders act.

A typical occurence, relates Newby, took place in Woodside recently when he and John Logue, a Daly City auto mechanic, were loading their motorcycles onto the back of a truck and were temporarily partially blocking what is ordinarily a deserted back road.

Three people on horseback, two men and a woman, rode by and although they could possibly have passed with a tight squeeze, Newby and Logue told them that if they waited just a few seconds they would be out of their way. The men were pleasant enough, but the "lady" began screaming and verbally abusing Newby and Logue, causing an extremely unpleasant sceen.

There was also the time at Clear Lake when a group of dirt riders, with an appreciative Highway Patrol motorcycle officer as an audience (the police, personally, generally back dirt riders, but their hands are usually tied by public outrage), were sniped at with rifle fire from a couple of indignant citizens.

Dirt riders can relate all sorts of similar incidents, such as citizens stringing hidden chains across public roads to "teach them a lesson," etc.

As has been indicated, there are, besides the Hell's Angles, ill-behaved newcomers, introduced to the fraternity by Honda, who don't know the first thing about social behavior, an ironic turn, since Honda, which is credited with an upswing in motorcyclig as a more healthy sport than a rowdy hobby, has also helped to introduce the "amateurs" who clog the dirt paths playing Marlon Brando and hardly serious about perpetuating dirt riding as a respected sport.

Newby admits that the "serious" dirt riders aren't always so innocent (not always having proper places to ride, some do occasionally get frustrated and do foolish things) and even that they sometimes get "carried away with speed," but he insists that these instances are no more prevalent than the times an ordinary motorist may speed, and also contends that in most cases the speeding back road rider is endangering only himself and not a freeway full of people.

Newby's solution to the "image" problem is simple. "Get rid of the Hell's Angels and then get a movie star, to promote dirt riding for us. Steve McQueen is well known as a cyclist, and he's a really good one, too, but the trouble is, in his movie roles he's usually a troublesome, rough and tumble non-conformist with a dirty face, which is the dirt rider's image all over again."

We suggested maybe Cary Grant. Newby says as long as we're dreaming, he'd settle for the best of all possible combinations, a rich, glamorous politician, one who could make a leather jacket look like a cavalry captain's tunic.

S.S.F. Smashes T.N. 99-66, Westmoor Hi Defeats El Camino

South San Francisco High School let it be known to all concerned that it has no intention of giving up the North Peninsula League basketball championship to anyone — not even the second place squad.

The Warriors, utilizing their blinding speed on the fast break, in their first league game literally flew away from the Terra Nova Tigers, 99-66, on the loser's home court Friday night.

Little Larry Alsterlind, who Warrior coach Bill Purcell has tabbed as the "greatest high school passer I have ever seen," did nothing to blemish that honor as he collected 19 assists with passes that came from over and around his shoulders, through his legs and behind his back.

He constantly fed the ball through surprised Tiger defenders to his two forwards, Ron Beall and Alex Smith. Beall poured in 33 points, mostly on outside jumpers, while Smith muscled 10 field goals off of offensive rebounds.

"We beat them on the boards — exactly where we thought we would have trouble with them," explained Purcell. "Smith and Beall both played very well but Alsterlind was great, absolutely great."

It was thought that the Tigers, tabbed as the biggest threat to the Warriors title quest this season, would give SSF a battle on its home court. But the Warriors sped through eight straight points to open the game and the margin after that just kept soaring.

The Warrior defense clogged up the explosive Tiger offense and the defending NPL champs entered the final quarter with a 39-point advantage, 74-35. High-scoriing forward Jim Bresnahan was held to 15 points, nine of which came in the final quarter during which time the Tigers scored 31, four less than they could manage the rest of the ball game.

RAMS RAMBLE

Meanwhile, Westmoor High School's surprising Rams won their second straight NPL contest Friday night with a strong 77-57 victory over winless El Camino.

Center Gary Soules scored 27 points for the winners, who have learned how to operate against the press.

"We tried to pressure them into mistakes but they surprised up by getting long passes downcourt behind our defense," explained losing coach Warren Hagberg. "We only shot 23 percent from the floor while they connected on 57 per cent of their shots. We were never in the game."

The Rams, not counted on to go very far at the start of the season, got balanced scoring from center Narvis Thompson, 10, and forward Grady Proctor, 14.

The majority of the Ram attempts came from beyond the 10-foot mark as they kept their reputation of being the best outside shooters in the league.

In the other NPL contest, Jefferson High School made a rather feeble attempt to get into the victory column as the Indians got by winless Half Moon Bay, 65-36.

The stubborn Cougars, now 0-2, were never really out of the game until the final period when the Indians finally got untracked for 26 points.

"We still are without a leader on the floor," lamented Indian coach Mike Orlich, looking towards mid-season when high-scoring Willie Redmond again becomes eligible. "We didn't look good at all today but I'll take any win right now."

Cap Is Emerging As MPL Favorite

By CRAIG BECKHEYER
Times Sports Writer

With only two games of the 1967 Mid-Peninsula League basketball season by the boards, Capuchino's solid Mustangs have already clearly established themselvts as the team to beat for the loop's casaba diadem.

Jim Johnson's Steeds dispelled any doubt of their favorite's roll with a convincing 74-64 victory over Aragon last week before a packed house on the San Bruno campus.

Coupled with Wednesday's win over San Mateo, the Mustangs have thus met and mastered the teams that shared the contender's mantle in the preseason and stand at a tie with Hillsdale atop the lists with a 2-0 mark.

In the lid-lifting class B contest, Aragon's Paul Quinby connected with a 22-foot jumper with three seconds left to provide the junior Dons with a story book finish and a 40-39 victory.

The Aragon light weights had been behind by as many as 13 points and trailed by nine deep in the final period before beginning a pressing comeback that culminated with Quinby's toss.

Playing an explosive team that scored a record breaking 97 in their league opener three days ago, the varsity Steeds threw a zone defense and a spasmodic full-court press at the Dons to take command early in their game and then hang on solidly for the win.

Although Aragon's Bob Beebe topped all comers with 25 points, Steve Fletcher, the Don's high-scoring guard was held to seven counters by the zone and fouled out late in the third period.

Cap was not untouched by the ref's whistles either as star Jim Kauffman also had to sit out most of the final frame after picking up his fifth infraction with 5:42 remaining in the game.

The Mustangs had four men in double digits with Jim Hannon, a deadeye all night, leading the way with 20 points while Roger Carmine had 17, Kauffman 14 and Owen McCumber 11. The winners also dominated the boards with Carmine and Kauffman repeatedly hogging the rebounds.

Johnson was understandably pleased with the win. Noting that his charges had not made nearly as many errors as they did in their opener against San Mateo, the Steed mentor allowed that "our press bothered them, we knew we had to stop Fletcher and we did with the zone." Asked about his bench, perhaps the strongest feature of this fine aggregation, Johnson replied "I don't feel I have any reserves, we just have ten men who play a lot, I feel I can substitute freely without giving away any quality."

While their strong opening against top-flight opposition undoubtedly has tabbed Capuchino as the early top dog in the MPL, Johnson named virtually every team in the league as the teams he considers to be contenders. "There are no soft spots in the schedule" he concluded.

But if Capuchino can maintain the excellent balance they displayed last night, they'll soon have a basketball pennant to hang beside the football flag they won two months ago.

Baseball 'Kick-off Day' In Pacifica Next Month

Representatives of the Pacifica Park, Beach and Recreation Department, Little League and Youth League are sponsoring a no-host luncheon today to prepare plans for the 1967 baseball season.

The luncheon is being held at Nick's Rockaway Restaurant, and is scheduled to begin at noon.

Baseball supporters will map plans for promoting the upcoming season at the luncheon, and complete arrangements for Pacifica's "baseball kick-off day" scheduled for February 18.

Walter Mails, former major league player and publicity agent for the San Francisco Giants, will be guest speaker at the luncheon.

The "kick-off day" program February 18 will be conducted at Terra Nova High School, and will consist of registration of boys, an opening ceremony, and a demonstration in "the art of batting."

Also included in the program will be clinics on pitching, catching, infielding, outfielding, first-base play, base running and sliding.

The program will conclude with a movie prepared by the San Francisco Umpire Association. Free refreshments will be available. Hours are 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. for boys 8-12 and 1 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. for boys 13-18.

Special P.E. Program

THESE WESTMOOR HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS ARE PARTICIPATING IN THE SCHOOL'S SPECIAL "adaptive physical education program. The program was started on an experimental basis last year, and inaugurated as a regular section of the physical education department this year. It is designed to allow handicapped students to develop "to the extent of their ability," and offers individual programs for the students, special instructor Mrs. Martha Wright said.

Westmoor High School's "adapted" physical education program, inaugurated last year on an experimental basis, has been included in the school's regular curriculum this year.

The classes are designed for students with physical handicaps too severe to allow full participation in the regular physical education program.

Each student under the program has a special P.E. class with activities restricted to comply with suggestions from the student's physician.

Mrs. Martha Wright, special instructor for the program, said only students with physical handicaps are admitted to the classes. Handicaps must be diagnosed by a licensed physician in order for a student to be eligible.

Such severe illnesses as cardio-vascular or respiratory conditions, asthma, diabetes or epilepsy qualify students for the classes.

Students are assigned to the classes for at least six weeks, and exercise on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, and participate in group activities on Tuesday and Thursday of each week.

Westmoor offers two "adaptive" physical education classes, both taught by Mrs. Wright. Included in the classes are such activities as horseshoe pitching, archery, modified golf, Ping-Pong, croquet and carroms. In addition, handicapped students participate in individual classes of the regular physical education program according to their ability.

Crestmoor Falls To Hillsdale High

BY MIKE NAGLER
Post Correspondent

The brand new year looks a lot like the old one as far as Hillsdale High School's basketball team is concerned, and Knight fans couldn't be happier about it.

That was the conclusion drawn by a packed house Friday at Hillsdale, where the 1967 version of the Knights racked up a 56-43 victory over Crestmoor Falcons to remain unbeaten in the Mid-Peninsula League title race which they won last year.

Playing their best game to date, Hillsdale got a fine all-around performance from a senior letterman and a pair of underclassmen who promise to make the basketball season a happy one for the future.

Mark Wilson, a 6-5 center returnee off last season's squad that finished third in the Peninsular Basketball Tournament, blocked five shots, made good enough of his own for 16 points, and came through with 14 rebounds for another game high.

Completing Wilson's work on the boards, junior forward Rob Baker connected from the outside for 20 points to lead both teams in scoring and Rick Wilkinson, a sophomore of whom you will hear more, added 11 points.

The victory was Hillsdale's second in two league games and a fine impetus for the Knights' crucial next Wednesday against old rival Aragon.

Crestmoor, beaten while scoring 85 points in its opener, found little solace in scoring nearly half that total against the Knights. Coach John Christgau got a 15-point performance from Gary Kollman, but the Falcon flash got poor supporting work from the rest of the San Bruno cast.

If Hillsdale coach Homer Zugelder had some cause for worry, it was the Knights' inept effort at the free throw line, where they made good only 12 of 25 attempts. Outside, the Knights shot at a 47 per cent clip, while Crestmoor was harassed with a 28 per cent accuracy average.

El Camino Defeated By Westmoor Hi

Westmoor High School's wrestling Rams asserted their strength last week in defeating high-ranked El Camino High, 38-15.

El Camino gained a slight lead early in the match, when Tolentino decisioned Ken Barfield in the 95-pound bracket, but Westmoor came back with a win over Sainz by Vance Hughey.

Terry Nihil pinned Kindheart in one minute and 12 seconds, captring the first of five Westmoor pins in the match.

El Camino rallied with a win by Paddock over Westmoor's Bruce Pope, but the Rams' Dick Thill decisioned McGuffin and started the momentum which carried Westmoor through the impressive win.

Time To Prune Roses Is Near

By IVA NEWMAN

Shortly after Christmaas each year we begin getting calls on when and how to prune roses. When we say wait to prune roses until the last week in January or the first week in February, we invariably are told that they passed such and such a place and they had their roses all pruned.

The best time to prune roses is just as they approach the end of their most dormant period. Experience over the past twenty or so years have taught our experienced rosarians that this best time for rose pruning in this area is a three-week period that begins the last week in January and ends about February 15. The proof of this time selection is the long stemmed, perfect blooms to be seen at the San Mateo County Rose Society Rose Show on the first Sunday of May each year. Pruning earlier or later won't kill the plants but the new growth is more likely to encounter setbacks that may prevent them from developing normally.

This year, as in the past several years, the San Mateo County Rose Society willl conduct three free pruning demonstrations. The first one will be held this Sunday, January 15, from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. at the Peters & Wilson Nursery in Millbrae. The nursery will have free refrehments and door prizes for those attending. The second demonstration will be held at the Society's Rose Garden in East Park, San Mateo. Interested gardeners are invited to bring clean, sharp shears to the park and learn the art of rose pruning under the careful supervision of the Society's American Rose Society's Consulting Rosarins. This pruning session will start at 1:00 p.m. on Sunday, January 22, and continue until all the roses are pruned. The third session will be held on the Society's meeting night, Thursday, January 26, in the cafeteria of the Baywood School, 600 Alameda de las Pulgas, San Mateo, starting at 8:00 p.m. The public is invited to bring their rose pruning problems to any or all of these sessions.

Pruning of roses is an annual garden chore. It is done because gardeners, over the years, have found that they get better flowers on longer stems, new basal shoots or canes from the bud union that rejuvenates the plant and they can shape and control the plant by the knowledgable cutting of existing wood at this season of the year.

Remove Leaves First

Pruning starts with the removal of all leaves (this deleafing can start in late December, if you wish) and growing tips. These leaves and tips should be destroyed, not composted, as they carry fungus spores and insect pests or their eggs. The more experienced a rosarian is the more he insists on getting the leaves off a plant before he does any serious cutting. It is only possble to judge the age, vigor and usefulness of a cane when it is clearly visible. Once the canes are completely exposed and the soil beneath the plants raked clean, pruning can start.

Study the plant to see its growth tendency then plan the pruning to correct any irregularity. Start the actual cutting by removing dead and obviously diseased wood. Next remove the weak and twiggy growths. The next step is to uncover the bud union to make sure that none of the canes left standing comes from below the bud union. If a cane starts from the root section of the plant it is a sucker and should be pulled off. Twist these vigorous growths right out of their sockets, do not cut them off as cutting encourages more-sucker growths.

Next check the crossing or rubbing branches. Some of these may have to be removed but others can be held apart by staking or wedging. Canes and branches growing in the center of the plant must be removed as the plants must have good air circulation. The next step is to move the oldest and unproductive canes if the plant has more than three canes. The roughness of the bark is the key to its age.

Leave three to five well spaced canes. On very vigorous plants such as Garden Party, Sweet Afton and a host of others, more canes may be left. All canes should be removed to the bud union or back to their place of origin. Heavy canes should be removed with a small saw as even loppers have a tendency to split or crush the thick heavy canes. Most rosarians use Japanese flower arragement saws or keyhole saws because they are sharp and small enough to get into tight places.

Shortening Good Canes

The last cutting is done to shorten the canes you wish to keep. The amount to cut back depends on the growth, type and variety of plant. Examples are the stronger growing Queen Elizabeth which if cut back too hard will not bloom and the weak growing Picture which if not pruned fairly hard will have small flowers in spindly stems. Another general rule for shortening good canes is to remove from one-third to one-half of the previous year's (1966) growth.

Theoretically, rosarians take out an old cane for each new one of last year. However, this is not always practical and the pruner must use judgement when removing canes. The best blooms come from the newest canes providing they are firm and mature or ripe and not pithy and green. This past fall the weather stayed warm enough to promote a rather large amount of late cane growth.

The Chore A Bore!

Nell Norton

Someone once said, "Pity the poor housewife, the minute she steps out of bed, she's behind schedule — she hasn't made breakfast yet."

Things really aren't so bad as all that. But breakfast can be a chore and sometimes a bore. Personally, my favorite breakfast is "out." I feel any restaurant can make a much nicer breakfast than I am able to make at that early hour, so why not let them? Since my family doesn't always agree with this, I do have in reserve some very special breakfast treats that I'd like to share with you good cooks.

☆ ☆ ☆

PANCAKES are always a favorite and this pancake recipe will become a permanent part of your recipe file. they are easy to mix and fix and so light and tasty you will hve to pour the syrup on fast to keep them from floating away. Well — almost.

SOUR MILK PANCAKES

2 cups flour
2 table spoons sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon soda
2 cups sour milk
2 table spoons butter, melted
2 eggs, well beaten

Sift together the 2 cups flour, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 teaspoon each salt and soda. Add the two cups sour milk, stir lightly. Add the 2 tablespoons melted buter and fold in the two well-beaten eggs. Bake on hot ungreased griddle.

NOTE: You can make sour milk from fresh milk by adding 1 tablespoon white vinegar to each cup of milk. Let stand at room temperature for about one-half hour.

☆ ☆ ☆

BACON AND EGGS are standard fare for breakfast and very good fare indeed. However you can dress up the plate with a slice of warm coffee cake which will bring the meal to an even higher plane.

All these recipes use mixes as their basic ingredient. Which makes it very nice for the sleepy cook, not so much measuring and mixing.

MUFFIN MIX COFFEE CAKE

½ pkg. (1 packet) Orang eMuffin Mix
2 tbsp. pineapple-apricot preserves
3 tbsp. sugar
3 tbsp. flour
2 tbsp. butter or margarine
3 tbsp. chopped walnuts

Prepare batter from muffin mix according to directions on package. Pour into greased 8x½-inch round pan. Dot preserves over top. Prepare the Streusel Mix and sprinkle over all.

Streusel Mix: Combine the three talbespoons of sugar and flour and cut in the two tablespoons butter until crumbly, stir in nuts. Sprinkle over cake and bake in hot oven, 400-degrees 18 to 20 minutes. Serve warm, in wedges.

This coffee cake is deliciously cold, but you seldom have any left over.

TELL ME, good cooks, do you ever have those days when you come rushing in the house at 5:30 and your husband comes in at 5:45 and it's bad news about dinner? This next recipe can save you from strife at that hungry time. While fritters are usually a breakfast treat, you can have a very quick and tasty supper if you serve them with lots of bzcon and eggs. Aand all the ingredients for these fritters are on most of our shelves s all the time.

PANCAKE CORN FRITTERS

1 egg
½ cup milk
1 cup pancake mix
1 can (12 oz.) whole kernel corn, drained

Blend together the one egg and ¼ cup milk. Stir in the one cup of pancake mix and the drained corn. Use a very light hand on this stirring, for fritters are delicate little creatures and need to be treated gently.

Drop by teaspoonsfuls into hot oil (1 inch deep) and cook slowly until golden brown, about 4 minutes. Makes 20 to 24 fritters. Serve hot with lots of syrup.

THE FOOD manufacturers really did us a good deed when they started making the cake mixes, didn't they? Here's a very tasty coffee cake using a cake mix as the base.

COTTAGE CHEESE COFFEE CAKE

1 pkg. yellow cake mix
2 eggs
½-cup pineapple
2-3 cup cottage cheese

Combine the packaged cake mix, two eggs, one-half cup pineapple juice and two-thirds cup cottage cheese. Beat well. Pour into 9x9-inch greased pan. Top with Pineapple Streusel topping. Dot with butter and bake in 350-degree oven for 35 to 40 minutes. Serve hot.

PINEAPPLE STREUSEL TOPPING

3 tbsp. sugar
3 tbsp. flour
2tbsp. butter
3 tbsp. chopped nuts
1 teaspoon cinnamon

Combine the 3 tablespoons sugar and flour and one teaspoon cinnamon. Add the 2 tablespoons butter and chopped nuts. Spoon the drained pineapple over top of cake and sprinkle the streusel mixture over all.

Landscaping Classes Set By College

Three home gardening and landscaping classes for the suburban greenthumber will be offered by College of San Mateo during spring semester, which opens next month.

All meet weekly during the mornings, from 9 o'clock to noon.

A Tuesday group is scheduled at San Bruno Recreation Center and a Wednesday group at San Maateo County Farm Bureau building in Half Moon Bay, both instructed by Albert Wilson. A Thursday group in the CSM campus horticulture center will be taught by Alexander Graham.

Wilson, author of the widely used book "How Does Your Garden Grow?" and other works, is a veteran college faculty member. Graham, whose studies and early professional experience were in Scotland and England, is a recent addition to the CSM staff.

Spring semester opens the tion is required for any of the week of Feb. 6. No preregistra- home gardening classes; students sign up with the instructor at the first meeting. Only charge is the standard adult course $3 registration fee.

The 'French Lavender' Is Shown

Lavendula dentata, more commonly known as "French Lavender" was shown at last week's meeting of the Peninsula Chapter, California Association of Nurserymen, by Pete Sugawara of Monte Bello Nursery, Los Altos.

In showing the plant, Sugawara told the assembled nursery men that this winter-blooming lavender could be one of the answers to customers' requests for winter-flowering shrubs that would brighten the garden during the darker days of the year. However, the short spikes of lavender-purple flowers of Lavender dentata is not limited entirely to the winter season for this flowering shrub is noted for its remarkable everblooming habit.

In our horticultural books three different lavenders carry the common name of "French Lavender." Lavender stoechas is listed in one highly reputed reference work as "French Lavender" but Sunset's Western Garden book gives this plant the common name of "Spanish Lavender."

Holly Makes A Fine Evergreen

If you think of holly as something too special for your California garden or as a plant that is only beautiful for the Christmas Holidays, you are wrong on both counts. California is one of the leading holly growing states in the nation; and California holly is annually shipped to Eastern markets during the holidays. Holly is also one of the most beautiful and easy to grow evergreens available to Peninsula gardeners.

The California Association of Nurserymen reports that well over a hundred classified hollies are available in our state. Local C.A.N. members choose from among these the varieties that do best under their own local conditions.

Here on the Peninsula, the traditional English Holly (Ilex aquifoliuum) with spiny leaves and bright red berries is usually the most popular. In southern California and in many warmer climates, the spinless Burford Holly is the top choice. Each Christmas you can cut the material for a choice wreath from either.

Since many hollies are not self-fertile, you want to make sure there's a male of the species somewhere in the vicinity of your berry-bearing female plant; or that the plant you buy has been grafted to produce both staminate and pistillate flowers on the same rootstock. Be sure to ask your local nurseryman about this.

To consider every holly available in nurseries would be nearly an impossible task. There are hollies, hollies and more hollies, some of which are planted for their berries, others simply for their foliage. However, most of them are variations of three or four families in the species, and these broader groups we can consider.

English Holly is the one most people draw a mental picture of when the word "holly" is mentioned. The leaves are prickly enough to cause even a mild-mannered wreath maker to expound a few unprintable words. Results are worth the effort, however, for when you've finished, you have more than a wreath, you have a Christmas tradition.

Chinese Holly also includes many named varieties such as the popular Burford Holly with its spineless leaves. Another Chinese Holly, the variety Dazzler, should also be on your list for appraisal.

COMMENT

Public Has Final Word on Charter

Once again the Supervisors of San Mateo County have agreed to appoint a commission for a new study of the county charter. The new study comes at the behest of north county cities dissatisfied with the "at large" election of supervisors representing the five supervisorial districts, but will be broadened to consider other revisions of the charter or, possibly, a wholesale re drafting.

In general terms a periodic review of the charter is a healthy and useful objective. No instrument of government can remain static and changing conditions make new demands. Even the Constitution of the United States has been amended more than a score of times. However, there is also danger at the opposite extreme. Too frequent amendment, especially without eliminating obsolete or inoperative sections, can result in a governing instrument of near ridiculous proportions. This happened to the constitution of the State of California and is now being painfully and slowly remedied.

The new charter study commission, when it is organized, might do well to begin by studying the record of its predecessor commissions. Careful examinations will reveal some wide gaps between what was proposed at various times and what the voters of the county were willing to accept. The last previous charter revision proposals in 1961, suffered a near debacle at the polls.

The history of charter elections in the county shows that the voters are distrustful of most broad change and, in particular, adamant in refusing to allow any reduction in their franchise to elect their own officials. The new commission would do well to take cognizance of this and not risk disappointment by offering sweeping changes or measures calculated to reduce the powers and privileges of the county electorate.

It is human nature to believe that anything can be improved upon according to the opinions of those who have the opportunity to submit what they consider to be improvements. This is a trap that the new charter study commission should sedulously avoid. By proposing changes that are truly and provably needed, without succumbing to the temptation to propose revisions merely in the belief that they might be improvements, the chances of ultimate success before the voters will be greatly enhanced.

To do this the members of the new commission may find it well to take their own counsel and resist outside pressures of seeking or political nature.

The proximate reason for formation of the new commission is the matter of election of supervisors "at large." This should be the first and principal item of study and if the commission finds this to be a good and reasonable practice it will have the comparatively easy task of proposing no change. If returning to election of supervisors by district is deemed to have merit an amendment can be proposed.

Whatever, if any, changes are ultimately offered will be subject to a vote by the people of the county. The record shows this is a very good arrangement.

'Fantasy' Of A Dream

By CANDY TROY

The fantasy of a little girl's dream becomes a reality when she becomes a queen — the Queen of her City — The City of Pacifica. All the times spent dreaming about the day when she would become a Queen unfold when she captures those dreams as she is crowned "Miss Pacifica," an honor bestowed upon her, as a result of hard work and full enjoyment.

"Miss Pacifica," is not simply a mere title of queenliness. Along with it she takes the knowledge of herself having been chosen the girl best suited to serve and represent her City in various important city and county functions.

"Miss Pacifica" becomes an active part of her community. Throughout her reign as queen she assists in grand openings, public appearances and publicity pictures.

One of her duties is to represent Pacifica at the Floral Fiesta in San Mateo.

Here, she has the opportunity of meeting new friends and participating in our County Fair. It is here that she will compete for the title of Dream Girl of the Fair. It is also here that she will realize she IS a queen.

All the fondest memories Miss Pacifica will hold, will be all the warm and cherished friendships she will gain. The feeling of accomplishment and satisfaction will come, when it is her turn to relinquish her crown and wish her successor the best of luck and happiness for a wonderful year.

On May 13, I will relinquish my crown to Miss Pacifica 1967. Entries are now being accepted for the upcoming pageant through February 24, by Mrs. Joan Ellison, entries chairman. For information regarding pageant entry, contact her at the Pacifica Chamber of Commerce office, any week day between 12 and 5 p.m.

This experience is so rewarding and is a girl's chance in a lifetime to participate in an activity such as this. Remember — something gained is never lost.

What's That About Absence, Heart..?

Frank LaPierre

LIGHTER THAN AIR . . . We didn't realize how long that absence was, or just how much blubber had been starved off until yesterday when a certain politician sidled up to our table at lunch and gushed "Didn't you used to be . . . ?" We did, and we still are — much to the chagrin of some.

Frankly, (that's a pun, son) we had been needling others in this column for so long that when our turn came for the gang ove. at Franklin General Hospital to get in their shots we took 'em with a smile (and a wee bit of a tear).

In our selfish ignorance we had pushed from our mind the fact that a heck of a lot of people spend "The Holidays" in hospitals — giving birth, mending bones, or dying. In that too-clean bed, surrounded by too-clean orderlies, armed with too-sharp needles, we had a lot of time to contemplate this fact. Others out whooping it up at some nite spot while the guy in the next crib is wondering what's left in the world to whoop up.

And then comes a small bright spot in their otherwise confined lives: A group of folks from the North County get together and decide to give a few hours of their time, troop down to the Doctors' Place and glide from one antiseptic ward to the next singing Season's Greetings to all. Five floors, 60 songs and three hours later, Patti Parks Stoltz and her group left the hospital — and a lot of happier people behind.

Seems Patti "happened" into the hospital with her choral group to cheer up the shut-ins (along with Yours Truly) only this clever fellow had talked his way out of confinement earlier that morning. Sorry about that kids!

SWEET SMELL OF SUCCESS — Didja catch Brisbane's Dr. Paul Georcke on the Big Eye the other A. M.? Answering phone calls with Pia and what's-his-name about that smelly garbage battle now being waged in San Mateo courts. Early phoners (phonies?) asked everything but the BIG question: Why not burn instead of fill and cover? Fact is, burning is almost twice as expensive — and there's less profit when the overhead goes up . . . However, Daly City has got her own refuse problems. Officials here blame San Francisco's Lake Merced overflow for pollution of San Mateo beaches following heavy downpours. On the other hand, our northern neighbors point the finger at Daly City's Mussel Rock garbage dump. More on that particular "resort area" later!

ON A BICYCLE BUILT FOR SIX — Like a knight on a spotless white bike, San Bruno City Manager Gerard Vergeer charged into his police department last week and suspended six of that city's finest for taking rome confiscated property. Commented Vergeer: "It's a routine matter . . ."

BLACK BART is the topic of conversation again in Daly City. Now the subject of non-agreement is whether to have a third rail (live) or overhead electric wires to power the rapid transit trains. Some officials claim the ground-level third rail is too dangerous. What do they use in New York (8 million population)?

SIGNS OF THE TIMES — They "knock" filling the Bay on the ground (no pun) that it takes away wildlife breeding areas. But why don't THEY give off "hurrahs" when new breeding grounds are created as a result of flood control and hydro-electric dams throughout the area. Truth is some are sincere — most like to hear themselves honk . . . And speaking of signs: couldn't they have painted that "Industrial City" sign near the Bay a dusty brown in summer and a grass gree in winter to blend with the mountain (so no one from out-of-town will see the silly thing). Maybe the new Chamber head, Frank Fairbanks, will talk 'em into it? I mean, who needs a sign? One look from the Bayshore Freeway, left or right, and you can SEE it's an industrial city — can't ya? It'll be harder to see when they build the Bayfront Freeway (watch and see if they don't).

GIVE US ONE GOOD REASON why Lt. (jg) Dieter Dengler's book (if he writes one) won't make the best-seller list. Question is will it be under fiction or non-fiction.

Better Business

Preparation Of Your Tax Return

Lorene Beasley

The preparation of income tax returns is highly technical for most payers with an income over $5,000 when a sizable amount of it comes from sources other than personal earnings.

As of January 5, some 43 million taxpayers received the 1040 long tax form with instructions while 22 million taxpayers received the 1040 A short-form package.

☆

THIS year some 60,000 taxpayers received a seven-page experimental tax form, 1040 Q. This, in the form of a questionnaire, will be the official form for taxpayers who file on April 15. If this new form proves to be a valuable simplification of our complete tax forms, it will be a great relief to many harrassed taxpayers.

As it stands now, Form 1040 Q is an optional form return which many taxpayers will not be able to use.

Taxpayers receiving annuities, royalties and rents will still have to attach schedule B to Form 1040. Farmers, businessmen and partnerships must still continue using Form 1040 while taxpayers reporting capital gains or losses will have to continue using schedule D.

☆

Moving expenses must be reported on Form 3903 and those who receive sick pay payments report on Form 2440.

A TAXPAYER is not required to or expected to overpay his taxes. A United States Supreme Court decision states that a taxpayer may use all lawful means to reduce his taxes. In many cases the professional, who works daily with taxes, will save clients much more than their fee.

Sound tax preparation depends upon the accuracy and quality of the information upon which tax returns are based. Be sure to maintain and keep accurate information of income and deductions.

Now is the time to gather your data. The fourteenth of April is too late.

County Business: Healthy Growth

There are items of especial interest to the business community of the Peninsula in the 1966 growth statistics on retailers, wholesalers and manufacturers, compiled by Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., the international business information agency. They should be of interest, also, to the general community because they can be translated in terms of jobs.

The figures show that San Mateo County racked up growth of 5.8 per cent in 1966 with a total of 6,157 business establishments as compared with 5,821 in 1965. This is well above the average of 47 counties of northern California which was computed at 2.6 per cent increase in the same period.

Despite this high figure San Mateo County ranked slightly behind the average, 6.4 per cent, for the nine Bay counties. Nevertheless, it was in third place for the Bay group of counties, behind Marin and Santa Clara counties in that order.

There are real surprises in the Bay County business growth rankings. San Mateo County's 5.8 per cent increase looks favorable, indeed, when compared with San Francisco's 1.0 percentage and Alameda County's .4 per cent.

Our county's increase in population is apparent to all of us, along with both the benefits and the problems it entails. It is promising and reassuring to see that the business population is keeping pace and improving at a substantial rate.

This is the evidence of stability.

McQueen, Reformed

Barbara Bladen

STEVE McQUEEN, not long ago a candidate for prison, now is numbered among the high salaried film stars of Hollywood. Having made his mistakes, he's proceeding into stardom with caution.

He arrived at the luncheon in the Twentieth Century-Fox commissary VIP room late. He'd been awaiting for us at the Beverly Wilshire Hotel and then decided it must be the Beverly Hilton and then called the studio where his picture "The Sand Pebbles" was being premiered that night. A short apology, dispensed like someone who is short on words but long on resolve.

He's just entered the $750,000 salary bracket and isn't about to turn his back on it.

"So long as they want to pay me this kind of salary, I'll grab it and run like a thief. It's going to send my kids through college."

Neither handsome nor particularly masculine (he's skinny, has a bad hairline and a drawn, pinched face), he represents the new ideal—cool, hard and nonintellectual. But he's nobody's fool.

Having completed only the ninth grade, and with a vocabulary that won't get him into the Bohemian Club, he is a shrewd nonconformist who knows what he wants and how to get it. The thinking isn't new but where he would have aggressively and selfishly grabbed, conned and hustled to get ahead, now he's suave, polite and hard working.

☆ ☆ ☆

SINCE HIS FILM career began, he's been cast in "misfit" roles. They suit his personality and uphold his image. Brando and Newman held that position for a while but McQueen has moved in on top of that territory. And he has youth on his side. He's 34 years old but looks a lot younger.

In spite of success, he's devoted to his way of life as a semi-beatnik, his wife Nelie; their two children, Terry, age 7, and Chad, age 6. Their friends are racers and motorcyclists, their social life doesn't include cocktail parties and his future has an Academy Award nomination in it for "Sand Pebbles."

It was in "The Great Escape," he made his mark. It may be in "The Sand Pebbles," he makes his greatest triumph. He plays an unpopular, sullen and rough-hewn sailor, a machinist mate on an American gunboat in the China Seas in 1926. It is his best acting work to date.

"I never saw 'Cincinnati Kid' and I could only sit through half of 'Nevada Smith.' It's enough trouble going through life trying to like myself without having to look at myself on a screen 40 feet high."

He's most at home on his motorbike, and he's proud of his car collection which includes a dark-green Excalibur SS, a burgundy Ferrari convertible, a red Chevrolet Corvette and an underslung Jaguar XK-SS. They're not symbols of success as much as toys of power with which he can release the tensions of a world unfamiliar to him.

☆ ☆ ☆

AN ALUMNUS OF SUCH unaccredited schools as the Boys' Republic, a school for problem children in Chino, with a hitch as a seaman (on forged papers) on a tanker in the Caribbean, he was working in a Texas brothel at the age of 15.

His life story isn't glamorous. He beat his shyness, studied at the Actors' Studio, perfected his technique and set out to be a serious actor. And yet he calls himself an "interpreter" rather than an actor.

His own evaluation is one thing. After "The Sand Pebbles" is released next month, he'll be stuck with any number of labels from "star" to "actor" to "personality." One name he's lost forever and that's "loser."

A Gold Mine Of Interesting Facts

Samuel Chandler

When Ronald Reagan was sworn in as the 33rd governor of California, the Los Angeles Times published a story by Charles Hellinger that is a gold mine of interesting facts.

At 55, Reagan is the eleventh oldest chief executive in the state's history. He is the fourth governor who has never been elected to a government position previously.

The other three were numbers eight, ten and twenty-three: Henry H. Haight, Leland Stanford, and Hiram Johnson.

Twelve of the governors had served in the legislature. John B. Weller (number five) was a member of the U.S. Senate. Seven others were members of the U.S. House of Representatives.

☆

THE first governor, Peter H. Burnett had served in the Oregon State Legislature and at one time prior to moving to California he ran for governor of Ohio and lost. Governor Culbert L. Olsen (29) once served as a senator in the Utah State Legislature; Governor Frank F. Merriam (28) was once the State Auditor for the state of Iowa.

Ronald Reagan is the first governor since Merriam, who took office in 1934, who has not been an attorney. Governor George Stoneman (15) was a West Point graduate and a respected military officer when he was elected. George C. Pardee was the only medical doctor to serve as governor. Governor Clemen Calhoun Young (26) was a teacher at San Francisco's Lowell High School where he was known as "C Square."

Like Reagan, the 17th governor, Robert Waterman came to California from Illinois where he had served as Postmaster of Geneva, Illinois.

To Californians he was known as "Old Honesty," for his courageous crusades as a newspaper publisher. Other newspaper publishers were governors: Haight (10), William Irwin (13), and Frank W. Richardson (25).

☆

PERHAPS as politicians they fared better with their newspaper colleagues than the 2nd California governor, John McDougal. When his term was over he challenged a number of newspaper editors to duels. Andrew C. Russell, editor of the San Francisco Picayune, was the first to accept. McDougal shot him, injuring him in the chest slightly. The next editor to step forward was Edward C. Kemble of the Daily Alta California. The police intervened and this cut short the former governor's career as a duelist.

Only six natives of California have served in the governor's chair. One of these was Reagan's predecessor, Edmund "Pat" Brown. The others were Rolph (27), Pardde (21), Romualdo Pacheco (12), Hiram Johnson (23), and Earl Warren (30).

Six of the governors were born in New York, six in Ohio, five in Indiana, two in Main, two in Wisconsin, two in Utah. Tennessee, Pennsylvania, Georgia, Michigan, New Hampshire, Iowa and Illinois have furnished one California governor apiece.

The youngest governor was J. Neely Johnson (number four) who was inaugurated when he was 30. Later in his life he became a Justice of the Nevada Supreme Court.

☆

THE oldest governor was Frank F. Merriam who was 68 when he was sworn in. Two governors died in office. They were Washington Bartlett (16), and James "Sunny Jim" Rolph. Three others resigned: Newton Booth and Hiram Johnson to become U.S. Senators and Peter Burnett (1) to return to private life.

Governor John G. Downey (seventh) was the only foreign-born governor.

Born in a castle in Roscommon, Ireland.

Governor Romuldo Pacheco, though a native of Santa Barbara, was a link with California's Mexican beginnings.

3 Phases of Performing Arts Featured at Meet

Three phases of the performing arts were featured Friday at a dinner meeting of the Spindrift Playhouse when new officers were installed.

The meeting was held at the Long Table, Linda Mar, Pacifica, with around 25 persons attending.

Sharon Hollander, in the cast of the Playhouse's upcoming production, "Invitation to a March," performed a vivid protrayal of a nagging wife taking her breakfast. She created the offstage character of her husband who, at the climax, kills himself.

Marie de Langen took the lead in a skit she wrote concerning the visit of a Venutian creature interviewed on earth. She wore an "Upside down" costume to help indicate the bi-sexual nature of the character. Others in the playlet were Alan Goldath and Bonnie Warren.

The evening was topped off musically with Janet Watson singing to her own guitar accompaniment. She rendered many favorite folk songs, joined by the audience.

Ray Willard, administrative vice president of Pacifica Toastmasters Club, was master of ceremonies. He installed the officers for this year. Nathaniel Marks, one of the founders of the Spindrift Playhouse, director of its first production, "No Exit" and currently directing its forthcoming comedy, was installed as president, succeeding Stuart Brickley.

Other officers are Julain Craw, vice president, succeeding himself; Estell Novello, secretary, succeeding Don Gentleman, and Gilbert West, succeeding Barbara Carroll.

Marks appointed Janet Watson and Ethel Marks to the board of Directors.

The group voted to change its meeting night from Friday to Wednesday, twice a month. The next meeting will be held January 25, at 8 p.m., at the Pacifica Library, Sharp Park, Pacifica.

Further information may be obtained by phoning Ethel Marks at 355-3565.

Terra Nova Topics

By MARIA MONTENEGRO

Strangers surveying the Terra Nova scene today might be surprised to see George Washington walking down the halls with Mother Goose . . . or a clown doing tricks for The Girl from U.N.C.L.E.

These same strangers also might wonder about new developments in education at seeing groups of strangely dressed youths gathering with pickets and loud voices to yell and cheer between classes and at lunch. Another source of amazement might be the complete acceptance of the situation shown by the administration, faculty, and students.

Is this an experiment in progressive education? Has Russia developed and dropped a new gas-producing hallucination?

WHAT is the answer to all this mass hysteria?

Well, all indications on campus point out that today begins Terra Nova's annual period of insanity, with this year's Spirit Week. To Terra Novans the mention of Spirit Week generates excitement and visions of intense class rivalry for the Spirit Award.

Each class will have ample chance to show it spirit by participating in Spirit Week events planned and coordinated by the TN Executive Board.

Today is Dress-up Day in which Freshmen dress as circus characters, Sophomores—movie and TV characters, Juniors — historical characters, and Seniors — storybook characters.

A 45-minute rally will be held for the first day of intra-mural class basketball competition (Freshmen vs. Sophs and Juniors vs. Seniors).

TOMORROW will be Crazy Day with Seniors wearing crazy hats to school, Juniors—crazy colors, Sophomores — crazy shirts, and Freshmen—crazy socks.

Besides the traditional Crazy Day, tomorrow also marks the start of Slave Days at TN, thought up by the normally democratic Executive Board. Boys who have purchased 10c slave tickets will each pick a girl "slave" who will carry his books to class, buy his lunch, and do other chores within the limitations set up by the Board.

Friday, the girls will get their chance for revenge by making slaves of the boys. Friday also will be Color Day, in which each class wears its own color (Seniors, white; juniors, black; sophomores, gold; freshmen, red).

This will produce solid blocks of color at each class section for the Spirit Assembly, which rounds off each year's Spirit Week.

At the assembly, winners of today's basketball competition will play for the championship and each class will present a skit.

Is it any wonder that strangers inquiring of students on the TN campus today will get dazed, pre-occupied stares and the reply of "Schoolwork — what schoolwork?"

Congregation Leaders Set

During a recent annual meeting of the Congregation at Grace Covenant Church in South San Francisco officers were elected for the new year.

New officers include Mel Haworth, chairman; Ed Sellman, vice chairman; Eveline Rush, secretary, and John Cantley, financial secretary. Jeanne Cantley was re-elected as Sunday School superintendent.

MINCE HERBS

Equal parts of commercial sour cream and mayonnaise seasoned with minced fresh herbs make an excellent salad dressing for sliced ripe tomatoes served on lettuce.

June Date Circled By Pacificans

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Rist of Pacifica announced the engagement of their daughter, Linda Ann, to Donald Etienne Damon. The couple plans a June 17 wedding at the Church of the Good Shepherd in Pacifica.

Donald is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel C. Damon of Pacifica. He attended Terra Nova High School and the College of San Mateo. He is the brother of Cynthia and Theresa Damon.

Linda also attended Terra Nova High School. She is the sister of G. Michael Rist, Stephen Rist and Patricia Marie Rist. They are the grandchildren of Mrs. Rosemary Arcy of Santa Clara and Mrs. Florence Rist of Daly City.

Makeup Artist To Demonstrate At 'Y' Meeting

The North San Mateo County Unit of the YWCA—Wives, an organization by and for the housewife, will present Theodore Lee, make-up artist from Joseph Magnin, and Arcadio Pagaran, hairstylist from the San Mateo branch, in the last of a tree part series, "The Woman in You," tomorrow at the Westlake Community Baptist Church, Southgate and Elmwood, Daly City, from 10 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.

Skin analysis and day and evening make-up will be demonstrated on two Y-Wives models. A "little extreme" hairstyle will complete the "total look" of the evening model.

Inexpensive pre-school child care is available during the meeting.

The old-fashioned stone jar with a cover is a good place to store soft cookies. To keep moisture in cookies, old-time cooks used to add a slice of bread to the jar.

CALLING ALL HOMEMAKERS

By Donald C. Waite

HOW CAN YOU JUDGE FURNITURE VALUES?

Generally speaking, furniture is a "blind article." This means that it is really next to impossible for the average person to be able to judge actual quality of furniture just by looking at it.

So what is the best thing for Mr. and Mrs. Furniture Buyer to do? The only answer is to shop with a reliable merchant.

Years ago, automobile salesmen would tell their prospects all about the wheel base, gear ratio and other technical aspects of cars until they realized that the public goes by the established reputation of the manufacturer and the dealer. The same goes for television and radio sets. And the same thing is true in the furniture line.

Your reputable furniture dealer or decorator will never handle inferior quality merchandise just in order to meet or beat competition. If you have confidence in your dealer you must also have confidence in the act that he brings you the best values that are obtainable, and he does this for a very selfish reason: He wants to both sell and keep his customers. These customers keep him in business and he knows that if he fools them he is fooling himself.

You may be sure that the materials in our furniture, and the construction of the furniture — those "unseen" factors — are of high quality at our store.

Our decorators, here at Sterling Furniture in Westlake Shopping Center, are at your service no matter what your decorating problem may be. We are open Wednesday and Friday evenings 'til 9 p.m. for your shopping convenience. Tel. PL 6-7500

Baked Chicken In Continental Style

The world over, everyone loves a great chicken dish — and Baked Chicken Continentale is just that. The bird wears a crisp coating of crumbs and cheese enlivened with herbs. Spread Chiffon soft-type margarine on the skin — and see how readily the coating clings. There's no need to wait for the margarine to soften; it contains pure liquid safflower oil and is already soft. Adds juiciness and fine buttery flavor, too. Once coated, all you have to do is bake the bird. Invite Baked Chicken Continentale to make its local debut in your own kitchen.

Baked Chicken Continentale

2 broiler-fryer chickens (2 to 2½ pounds each), quartered
2 teaspoons salt
½ cup soft-type margarine containing liquid safflower oil
1 clove garlic, crushed
1 cup fine dry bread crumbs
½ cup grated Parmesan cheese
¼ cup chopped parsley
1 teaspoon tarragon, thyme, or rosemary
½ teaspoon dry mustard

Sprinkle chicken quarters on both sides with salt. Combine soft-type margarine and garlic. On a piece of wax paper, combine bread crumbs, grated cheese, parsley, tarragon, and dry mustard. Spread chicken quarters on both sides with margarine-garlic mixture; dip in bread crumb mixture to coat well. Place on foil-lined baking pan. Bake in 375° F. oven for 1 hour and 15 minutes, until chicken is tender.

YIELD: 8 servings.

Make-Ahead Meal For Shopping Day

You can go holiday shopping without a worry if Salmon Stuffed Zucchini is your choice for supper. Make the stuffing in the morning ready to combine in a jiffy in the evening. Round out the meal with French fries, canned stewed tomatoes, wedges of lettuce and the Peach Fig Bar Betty you made in the morning.

Salmon Stuffed Zucchini

3 medium size zucchini squash
2 tablespoons butter, or margarine
Salt, pepper
1 can (1 lb.) salmon
1 cup toasted bread cubes
1½ teaspoons seasoned salt
¼ cup mayonnaise
1 small onion, chopped
1 tablespoon celery flakes

Brown zucchini, cut in half lengthwise, in butter; put cut aside up in shallow baking dish. Season with salt and pepper. Combine liquid from salmon, chunks of salmon and remaining ingredients; mix gently. Pile on top of squash halves. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) about 30 minutes, until squash is tender. Six servings.

Peach Fig Bar Betty

Cut a 1 lb. pkg. of fig bar cookies into cubes; arrange half of them in a baking dish. Top with a 1 lb. 14 oz. can of drained sliced peaches and sprinkle with remaining cookie cubes. Combine a cup of the peach syrup, a teaspoon grated lemon rind and a tablespoon lemon juice; pour over peaches. Dot with butter and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) 40 minutes. Serve warm with cream. Six servings.

Cube Steaks Are Ready in Minutes

Flavorful and easy to fix cube steaks of good Western beef are perfect for impromptu supper parties. Grill them quickly and serve rolled over loosely on crusty French bread. Butter, seasoned with onion and chili powder, makes a savory spread to melt into the sizzling beef. Remember cube steaks take little cooking time, so plan to have everything else ready if you want to enjoy tender juicy meat.

Beef Steak Roll Overs

¼ cup soft butter or margarine
½ teaspoon instant minced onion
⅛ teaspoon dill weed
4 cube steaks (about 1½ pounds)
4 slices French bread
Hickory smoke salt
Pepper
Sliced tomatoes
Ripe Olives

Blend butter with onion and dill weed. Grill steaks quickly, about 2 or 3 minutes on each side. Be careful not to overcook them. Toast bread. Spread one side with seasoned butter and place on hot platter. As steaks come from grill, season lightly with smoke salt and pepper. Roll over loosely on toast. Spread remaining seasoned butter over steak. Garnish platter with sliced tomatoes and ripe olives. Makes 4 servings.

These Frozen Fries Have Italian Touch

There's really no reason to save frozen French fries for snacks and hamburgers when you could be making Potatoes Italia.

The frozen fries are layered and baked in a well-seasoned onion-cheese custard that's velvety-smooth with the exciting flavor of Cheddar and shredded Parmesan. The casserole is excellent served as the main entree with a fruit and greens salad, crisp relishes and steaming bowls of soup. You'll find it goes well with meat balls, too, or plump Italian sausages.

Potatoes Italia

- 3 large onions, thinly sliced
- ¼ cup butter
- 8 eggs
- 1½ cups grated sharp Cheddar cheese
- ½ cup milk
- ¼ cup chopped parsley
- 1 teaspoon basil flakes
- ½ teaspoon garlic salt
- Dash pepper
- 1 1-pound or 1¼ pound package frozen French fried potatoes
- ¼ cup shredded Parmesan cheese

Cook onions in butter until soft, but not brown. Beat eggs slightly and combine with cheese, milk, parsley, basil, garlic salt and pepper. Arrange potatoes in a 9x9x2-inch baking pan; top with onions and butter. Pour egg mixture over all; sprinkle with Parmesan cheese. Bake at 350 degrees for 50 minutes, or until set. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

A Peachy Prune Torte and Filling

Our favorite dessert recipe, passed from mother to daughter for several generations, is this delicious Peachy Prune Torte.

This torte is one that will take some time to prepare, but it's worth every minute. There are twelve — count 'em — layers of crispy rich, cookie-like rounds, filled with a blend of finely-chopped canned pie filling and cooked prunes, folded into sherry-flavored whipped topping. The final frosting that crowns the torte is zesty with lemon; layer by layer, just as elegant-tasting as it sounds.

Peachy Prune Torte

Layers:

- 1 cup butter or margarine
- 1½ cups sugar
- 3 eggs
- ¼ cup evaporated milk
- ¼ cup water
- 2 teaspoons vanilla extract
- 5 cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 1 tablespoon baking powder
- ½ teaspoon salt

Layers: Cream butter and sugar; beat in eggs, one at a time. Add milk and vanilla. Sift dry ingredients together; add gradually to butter mixture, blending well after each addition. Refrigerate dough until well-chilled. Cut 12 9-inch circles from heavy aluminum foil. Divide dough into 12 small balls; keep in refrigerator until ready to roll. Place each ball in center of foil circle; roll to cover foil circle, trimming edges if necessary. Place on ungreased baking sheet and bake at 375 degrees for 5 to 7 minutes. Cool; peel foil from cookies.

Filling:

- 2 cups California prunes, cooked and pitted
- 1 No. 2 can (2 cups) peach, pie filling
- 1 teaspoon nutmeg
- 1 4-oz. package dessert topping, whipped

Filling: Reserve 2 or 3 prunes and a few slices of peaches from pie filling for garnish. Put remainder in blender (or finely chop) with sherry and nutmeg. Blend until fruit is pureed. Fold pureed fruit into whipped cream; chill. Place 1 cookie on cake plate; spread with ⅓ cup filling. Repeat with remaining cookies and filling, leaving the top cookie plain. Refrigerate.

Frosting: Spread top cookie with lemon-flavored confectioners' sugar frosting. Garnish with peach slices, prunes and grated lemon peel. Refrigerate 'til serving time. Serves 12.

Something New in Salads

Something new in salads. Combine with large pieces of California walnuts, canned pineapple chunks and sliced celery with drained, canned sweet potatoes cut into one-inch cubes. Salt lightly. Serve in crisp cups of western iceberg lettuce with a dressing of mayonnaise seasoned with curry powder and lemon or lime juice. Garnish with additional California walnut halves.

Nearly a half million dairy cows in California were bred by artifical insemination during 1965, says University of California at Davis.

This Chicken Stew Is a Real Quickie

It's a "calendar flipping" day, the type of gray winter day when you wish that merely riffling through a few pages worth of months would bring some sunshine. Well . . . it won't!

So create your own version of "sunshine" by heading for the sewing machine and whipping up some bright new curtains . . . or those perky pillow covers you've wanted.

In case the sewing session gets lengthy and you find yourself caught short for a quick lunch or supper dish, we provide the perfect answer. It's a real quickie, flavorful canned chicken stew seasoned with curry powder and dotted with crisp butter-toasted almonds. Just open the canned stew — a luscious combination of tender poultry pieces and garden vegetables in a chicken-y rich sauce — heat with suggested seasoning and serve. For more good-eating, garnish with sauteed apple rings.

PERKY CHICKEN STEW

¼ cup slivered almonds
½ teaspoon curry powder
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 can (1 pound 3 ounces) chicken stew
4 to 6 grilled apple rings

In saucepan, brown almonds with curry powder in butter. Add stew. Heat; stir now and then. Serve with apple rings. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

MAKE CANNED CHICKEN STEW your solution for a quick lunch or supper dish on sewing day. Its counterpart, canned beef stew, is another answer to hearty, hurry-up eating —keep 'em both in mind!

Try This Tasty New Mustard Sauce

An old favorite, the frankfurter-on-a-roll, has a brand new tasty accompanist. It's a zesty brown prepared mustard barbecue sauce. A sizzling hot dog spread lavishly with mustard, tastes good at home, at a game, on a picnic, and in fact, almost anywhere. This ubiquitous favorite appeals to all ages and especially, the ever hungary teen-age set. Now with the indoor party season under way, here's a new delicious way of serving a top favorite snack.

The sauce is cooked and can be served hot or cold. Try spreading it on a split roll, and then toasting the roll until it is golden brown. Pop a hot frankfurter into the bun and you'll bite into the best snack you have ever tasted.

MUSTARD BARBECUE SAUCE

1 tablespoon butter or margarine
2 teaspoons minced onion
½ cup spicy brown prepared mustard
½ cup beef bouillon
3 tablespoons catsup
2 tablespoons sweet pickle relish
Frankfurter rolls

Melt butter. Add onion and cook until tender. Stir in mustard, bouillon, catsup, pickle relish. Cook gently, stirring occasionally, until sauce has thickened. Makes ¾ cups sauce; Spread on split rolls before or after toasting.

MUSTARD

1 pound frankfurters
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
6 tablespoons spicy brown prepared mustard
8 hot dog rolls
2 tablespoons mayonnaise

Cut frankfurters into ½" diagonal slices and place in bowl. Add ¼ cup mustard and stir to coat frankfurters. Melt butter in skillet. Add frankfurters slices and brown well. Mix remaining mustard with mayonnaise. Spread on split rolls. Toast under broiler until golden. Arrange frankfurter slices on rolls. Makes 8 sandwiches.

Salad in Shell

Ladies particularly enjoy a salad of diced chicken or turkey with chopped California walnuts, celery and mayonnaise. Serve it in cheese-flavored tart shells accompanied by tiny, hot muffins.

Try Swedish Style Fruit Soup on Menu

The name of the game is serving something different and it's fun to play when you entertain. If you're looking for something unusual for your next company dinner, you can't miss with Swedish fruit soup. Served chilled for dessert, it's an old Swedish custom that's delightfully new to most Americans.

Making the fruit soup is simplicity itself, for you start with bottled apple juice or cranberry juice cocktail and use canned and frozen fruits.

Just combine a quart of fruit juice with a little minute tapioca, lemon slices, cloves, and nutmeg, and simmer gently for about 10 minutes. Add mandrain orange slices, pinapple chunks, frozen strawberries, and a little grenadine syrup, and chill the mixture.

Serve it topped with sour or whipped cream and accompanied with tiny cookies. Or you can pour it over cake slices or ice cream. It can also be used as an appetizer.

However you serve it, you'll find it's an interesting conversation piece. And best of all, it's as delicious as it is different.

SWEDISH STYLE FRUIT SOUP

1 quart bottled apple juice or cranberry juice cocktail
¼ cup minute tapioca
1 lemon, thinly sliced
6 whole cloves
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
1 can (11 ounce) mandarin orange sections, drained
1 can (15½ ounce) pineapple chunks, drained
1 package (10 ounce) frozen strawberries with sugar, defrosted
1-3 cup grenadine syrup
⅛ teaspoon salt

Combine apple juice, or cranberry juice cocktail, tapioca, lemon, cloves, and nutmeg in saucepan. Bring to boil; simmer gently abut 10 minutes. Add remaining ingredients: Chill: Serve plain or topped with sour cream or whipped cream. Yield, 7½ cups.

Note: Wonderful as a first course or dessert topped with sour or whipped cream. Excellent, too, poured over cake slices or ice cream.

Beef Stew and Asparagus

Nothing marks the imaginative individual as does her ability to mix and match. Whether she's setting a scene with furnishings, fashions, or food, the gal with flair knows how to introduce contrasts — those so important elements with a difference, that make a difference!

Carry that idea to the lunch or supper table with this out-of-the-ordinary dish. You'll do it easily when you take hearty, homespun fare—Canned beef stew — and team it with the epitome of elegant eating — whole, delicately flavored asparagus spears. The results?—a luscious blend of good eating.

BEEF STEW SUPREME

1 can (19 ounces) beef stew
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
1 package (10 ounces) asparagus spears, cooked and drained
Toasted slivered almonds

In saucepan, combine stew and nutmeg. Heat; stir now and then. Arrange hot asparagus spears on serving plate; pour stew over them. Garnish with almonds. Makes 3 servings.

A Dish With Zest Is a Pickle Stew

We don't know if Peter picked his peck of pickled peppers for this stew or not; but if you're as busy as this man of rhyme, you'll be interested in this quick and easy dish. Stew is the tried and true supper standby of most families, but this is stew with a difference. First, it's made in minutes, as the base comes ready for heating, right from a can. Secondly it boasts a flavor that can't be beaten, with fluffs of dairy sour cream, green onion and plenty of pickle slices added to make it a Peter Piper Pickle specialty. The sour cream makes the gravy velvety smooth, and the pickles add crunch and zest.

A budget-stretcher that is nourishing and hearty enough for the most ravenous appetites, this is a stew that is perfect to serve after a particularly busy day or when the youngsters' baby-sitter takes over as cook. The canned stews are convenient to have on hand for they're wonderfully easy to fix, yet have full, rich flavor. Serve the stew as is or add a few ingredients as we have here, and you have a real meal-in-minutes.

If you'd prefer something other than sour cream, try a topping of dumplings or biscuits to dress up your stew. Frozen French-fried potatoes arranged on top of a casserole of stew after it's been in the oven for several minutes are good, too.

Add pineapple chunks and sauteed green peppers or even bits of left-over roast to the stew before heating and serving. There are so many ways to add your own individual brand to a canned product such as stew that it is well to have some on hand for every-day meals, and spur-of-the-moment, the-company's-staying kind of suppers as well. So pack a jar or two of pickles and canned stew into your cart the next time you go grocery shopping.

PETER PIPER PICKLE STEW

1 can (1½ pound) beef stew
2-3 cup thinly sliced dill or sweet pickles
1 cup dairy sour cream
¼ cup finely sliced green onions
French bread, sliced and toasted

Combine stew and pickles; simmer to blend flavors. To serve, spoon sour cream around edge of stew and sprinkle with onions. Serve with toasted French bread. Makes 4 servings.

Grape Or Prune Whip Torte Light

When you come to the end of a perfect meal, it's time for a dessert that's sweet but light. And when it comes to a light refreshing dessert, this grape whip torte is the perfect answer.

Made with bottled grape juice, gelatin, sugar, dessert toppping, and milk, it's satisfyingly smooth and sweet. The torte is formed of packaged lady fingers that are tender but not rich.

You'll have fun making it, carefully arranging the lady fingers colonade fashion to make a pretty torte that holds its shape and slices beautifully. Decorate it with cherries or nuts, if you like, and serve it with whipped dessert topping to hold down the calories.

Remember how good an old-fashioned prune whip used to taste? Try this torte with bottled prune juice and enjoy some of that same good flavor.

GRAPE OR PRUNE WHIP TORTE

2 packages (3½ ounces each) lady fingers (about 2 dozen)
3 envelopes (3 tablespoons) unflavored gelatin
1 quart bottled grape or prune juice
½ cup sugar
3 tablespoons lemon juice
3 envelopes (2 ounces each) whipped dessert topping
1½ cups milk

Line sides and bottom of 9-inch spring-form pan with split lady fingers; dave remain-split lady finers; save remain-in 1 cup grape or prune juice; melt over low heat. Add remaining fruit juice, sugar, and lemon juice; stir until sugar is dissolved. Chill until mixture is partially set. Prepare 2 packages dessert topping mix using milk as directed on package label. Beat fruit juice gelatin mixture until light and foamy. Carefully and quickly stir whipped topping into grape mixture. Chill until mixture holds its shape. Pour half of gelatin mixture over lady fingers. Top with remaining split lady fingers and cover with remaining fruit mixture. Chill until firm. Just before serving, prepare remaining package of dessert topping with remaining ½ cup milk as directed on package label. Garnish torte with whipped topping and maraschino cherries or nuts, as desired. Yield: 10 to 12 servings.

Cook onions with cream sauce according to package directions. Remove skin from around salmon and place in a greased shallow baking dish into which steaks just fit. Sprinkle with remaining ingredients. Pour onions with sauce over fish. Bake at 350 degrees for 15 to 20 minutes or until fish flakes easily with a fork. Broil for a few minutes to glaze. Makes 4 servings.

Presbyterians Set 'Parents' Sunday'

Sunday will be Parents' day at the Sunday schools of the Broadmoor Presbyterian Church, 377 Eighty-seventh Street, Daly City.

This is observed at 9:30 and 11 a.m.

The Christian Education Committee of the church of which Ted Peceimer is chairman has set aside this day for the parents of Sunday School pupils to attend meetings.

These are held to identify the purpose and aims for each grade level of the church school and then to visit and see their children's classes in action. An evaluation time with questions and answers will follow.

Mrs. Robert Mattson is in charge of the day's activities, with Mrs. Herbert Tweedie assisting.

Books, magazines and other informational materials for parents will be available. Articles will emphasize the year's study theme which is Jesus Christ—along with suggestions for Christian family living.

All parents of Sunday School pupils as well as other adults who are interested are invited to attend either the 9:30 or the 11 a.m. parents' session, said pastor Herbert C. Tweedie. The meetings will be held in the Geneva Room of the church. After the initial presentation, each parent will be directed to the classroom or his child for the observation period.

Regular 9:30 and 11 a.m. worship will be conducted in the sanctuary of the church.

S-DA Seeks Old Christmas Cards

Pastor J. J. Marshall of the Pacifica Seventh-day Adventist church wants to send old Christmas cards to Korea and Indonesia, where they'll be used to brighten up the lives of youngsters attending Vacation Bible Schools.

Pastor marshall said the majority of cards will be sent to Korea, where last year more than 200,000 youngsters attended Vacation Bible Schools. "Poverty is so rampant in Korea that even something simple like a picture on a used Christmas card helps to brighten the day for a child," Pastor Marshall explained.

"We can't help thinking," the minister continued, "of millions of Christmas cards that will be purchased, sent, briefly glanced at, and then burned. All of these cards can be put to good use in Korea and Indonesia."

Persons wishing to contribute their cards to the project are urged to leave them with MRS. C.O. BRUNGER, 427 DEL MAR AVE., Pacifica —or MRS. FLORENCE MATTIER, 675 MONTEZUMA ST., Pacifica. Persons wanting their cards picked up should call Mrs. Brunger at 355-2202.

After being sorted and packed, the cards will be mailed to the two East Asian countries for use next summer.

Bethlehem Youth Will Be Honored

Youth will be honored at Bethlehem Lutheran Church in Pacifica Sunday.

The young people of the church will give the sermon and conduct the service at both the 9 and 11 a.m. services.

A contemporary service, written especially for youth and making use of non-traditional, every-day language and folk music will be used.

Among those participating are Verlien Reutzel, Henry Whitacre, Rachael Swendseid, Sharon Pottinger, Dawn Teutzel, and Steele Spengler.

The purpose of Youth Sunday is to give special emphasis to the Church's ministry to youth and to provide an opportunity for the young people to give expression to their Christian faith in their own way at the regular morning service. The public is cordially invited.

On January 22, Bethlehem Church will also hold its annual meeting. It will begin at 6 p.m.

Bill Spengler, president of the congregation will preside.

Bethlehem Lutheran Church is located at Hickey Boulevard and Beachview Avenue in Pacifica.

S.S.F. Store Is Robbed At Gunpoint

A South San Francisco liquor store owner was robbed of $299 Saturday night as he faced a .45-caliber revolver.

The victim was Grant Lee, who operates John's Liquors at 310 Linden Avenue. He told police the suspect picked out a pack of cigarettes before ordering him to open the store's cash drawer.

While Lee was flat on the floor, the suspect cleaned out the cash box — plus Lee's wallet.

Lee heeded the 30- to 35-year-old suspect's warning as he rushed away with his loot, "Lie down and don't follow me out."

South San Francisco police are continuing their investigation into the case.

'Stowaway' Thief Arms Self, Caught

An enterprising burglar "stowed away" inside the huge Alec Department store in Colma shortly before closing Sunday afternoon, but set off a burglar alarm while trying to get out several hours later.

Colma police said Jackie W. Clifton, 24, of 2400 Skyline Boulevard, Pacifica, told them he hid in the men's restroom until everyone left the store at 6:30 p.m.

He roamed the deserted building picking up a carpenter's apron, a rifle and a 12-gauge shotgun, along with several boxes of ammunition, police said.

When Colma Police Officers Jack Gerhardt and Mike Mann, aided by Daly City police units, arrived at the store, Clifton was attempting to break out he front door of the store, both guns in hand.

A shouted warning from police officers outside the store sent Clifton scrambling for cover.

He surrendered meekly shortly after and lay face down on the floor until a department store security officer arrived with a door key.

The sprawling Alec store, located at 255 D Street in Colma, normally closes at 6 p.m. Sunday.

S.S.F. Airman Takes Class

SAN ANTONIO — Airman Leonardo Campos, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonardo Campos of 244 Sequoia Avenue, South San Francisco, has been selected for training at Chanute AFB, Ill., as an Air Force aircraft equipment repairman.

The airman, a 1965 graduate of El Camino High School, recently completed basic training at Lackland AFB, Tex.

Post Office Truck Hits D.C. Home

A post office truck rolled backwards down Maddox Avenue in Daly City Saturday, while the mailman was making a house delivery, and smashed into a home at 1 Fairlawn Court.

Investigators said both the vehicle and home suffered substantial damages in the accident.

Mailman Brian Marcus, of Colma, said he stopped his truck to make a delivery at 918 Maddox. When he returned to the vehicle it was rolling down the hill.

The force of the crash pushed the home's outside gas meter into the garage and broke the line.

Daly City firemen quickly shut off the leaking gas and extracted the wayward post office truck, allowing Marcus to complete his appointed rounds.

High Speed Link Plan Unveiled By West Bay

West Bay Transit Authority is considering a link by which San Francisco Airport passengers might use the high-speed trains of the Bay Area Rapid Transit System.

The plan is one of four alternatives listed in a year-end report issued Sunday by the San Mateo County district's director, John C. Lilly.

The alternatives:

—Extending the present San Francisco BART lines on to a San Mateo County transfer hub "in the vicinity of San Francisco Airport."

—Extending BART all the way down the Peninsula. This was originally rejected by San Mateo County when BART proposed it.

—Modernizing and extending Southern Pacific Railroad Facilities to connect with BART and the Municipal Railway system at Market Street in San Francisco.

—Use of buses on exclusive freeway lanes.

San Mateo County, along with Santa Clara County, withdrew from BART when it was in its formative stages.

The West Bay district awarded a $195,000 contract to consultants DeLeuw, Cather & Co., Stanford Research Institute and George S. Nolte Consulting Engineers to find alternatives to the discarded BART project.

Discussing the movement of passengers from a nearby BART station to the airport, Winfield Salter, an executive with one of BART's engineering consulting firms, said yesterday that a study is being made of "horizontal elevators—small, fast subways, or minibuses.

"Airport Manager George Hansen and I are investigating these possibilities right now," he exlained.

"Certainly, access from airports to downtown metropolitan areas is one of the most critical transportation problems facing the nation."

Salter blamed the problems not on mechanical nor technical matters but on "governental units, local jurisdictions, local politics, and local jealousies."

James Carr, San Francisco manager of utilities, indicated that he already has two possible locations designated in an airport master plan for rapid transit stations.

Both, he said, are near the Southern Pacific right of way, opposite the main entrance to the airport.

Carr said he felt that rapid transit must be planned all the way to San Jose; he agreed with BART's engineer Salter, however, that a stop opposite the airport entrance, and near the Southern Pacific right of way, would be better than bringing the rains into the airport terminal complex.

He pointed out that commuters who ride the rapid transit trains should not have to detour "into the great crowds at the airport."

Carr predicted that in five years, these crowds will be double what they are today.

Artist Seeks Expression

Anton Jovick, whose paintings are on exhibition in the Coral Room of the Westlake Library, writes that in each of his portraits he attempts to portray the many facial details that are the true marks of an individual's character.

To do this the artist must devote much time and patience to each painting.

Seventy-seven of Jovick's portraits are on display. Fifty-three are in black and white; the rest in oil.

While most of them are painted from photographs, several are created from the artist's imagination and experience. Several others are drawings of models who posed for Mr. Jovick.

The artist studied with Ugo Graziotti, the famous Italian sculptor and painter who now lives in San Francisco. His training in oil painting came from Arthur W. Palmer. He also studied with Roland Pierson Prickett of the Memory Lane Studios in Farmington, Conn.

Jovick was born Zagon Krasnica, Yugoslavia, as Anton Jovanovich. He came to the United States and was naturalized in 1909.

Arts, Crafts Class Slated

The Pacifica Park, Beach and Recreation Department is offering another Arts and Crafts class for 6 to 12-year-old children interested in art.

The class will start Saturday at Oddstad Park. Classtime for the 6 to 8 year olds will be 9:30 a.m. and 9 to 12 year olds will attend the 11 a.m. class. Classes will include work in sculpture, drawing, stitchery, painting and ceramics. A special trip is planned to the International Chil.. Art Center at Ghirardelli Square in San Francisco.

Registration fee of $3 for the six-week session is being taken at the Recreation Department office, City Hall.

Pilot Light Ignites Gas

A basement water heater pilot light touched off a nearby open can of gasoline Sunday night at the Hazel Avenue home of Wayne Davis.

Fire department officials said the gasoline had been used the previous day to clean motor parts and letf near the heater.

The resulting fire, which was quickly extinguished, caused an estimated $500 damage to the building and contents.

P-TA to Hear Of Narcotics

Terra Nova High School P-TA will hear William Walker, an agent of the State Bureau of Narcotic Enforcement, January 19, at 8 p.m., in the Terra Nova cafetorium.

Walker will show a color film covering narcotics, what they are, what they do, their symptoms, how they're used and how users can be recognized, as well as the treatment.

DENTAL HEALTH FACTS

"Cavities"

There are millions of bacteria in your mouth. Some are quite harmful because they act on sugars and other carbohydrates to form acids. These acids dissolve the enamel of the teeth. That is the beginning of tooth decay.

Unless decay is stopped by a dentist, who removes the decayed portion of the tooth and puts in a filling, decay proceeds from the enamel into the dentin and then into the pulp. Once the pulp has been infected, it may be too late to save the tooth.

Have your dentist check your teeth and take care of any cavities that may be present.

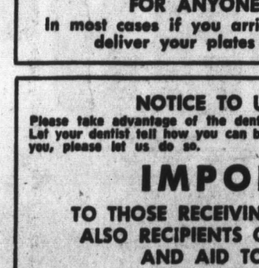

Dr. Campbell limits his practice to the making of dental plates, partial plates, removable bridges and extractions for some; however, he recommends that you see your dentist at least twice a year in order to help prolong the use of your natural teeth as even the beautiful modern dentures are not as efficient as healthy, natural teeth.

Take A Look At License

Take a look at your driver's license and if it is about to expire, you had better review some of the questions you might be asked when you go in to renew it, says the California State Automobile Association.

The following are typical questions that might appear on one of the examination sheets used at DMV offices. Each question shows three answers. Underline the correct one. Answers are given below.

1. When you reach a corner at the same time as another car coming from a cross street, you should yield the right of way to: the car on your left . . . the car on your right . . . neither car.

2. You may never make a U-turn: across a double line . . . on a curve . . . on a two-lane road.

3. When passing a school while children are going to or coming from school, the speed limit is: 35 miles per hour . . . 10 miles per hour . . . 25 miles per hour.

4. When another car tries to pass you on a two-lane road, you should never: increase your speed . . . slow down.

5. You are permitted to open your door on the traffic side: only when it is safe . . . at all times while parked . . . to leave but not to enter you car.

6. Except when otherwise posted, the center lane of a 3-lane highway should be used only by cars which are: going faster than normal speed . . . traveling at reduced speeds. . . . turning left or passing.

7. Unless otherwise signposted, the greatest speed permitted on any California highway under perfect conditions is: 55 miles per hour . . . 65 miles per hour . . . 60 miles per hour.

8. Left turns from a street having more than one lane in each direction should be begun from that lane which is nearest the: center of the roadway . . . left curb or road edge . . . right curb or road edge..

9. When you come to a stop sign at a corner where no traffic lights are operating, you should: stop at all times . . . slow down, and stop if necessary . . . stop, unless nothing is coming.

10. If you are going to turn, the law requires that you give a signal continuously: during the last 100 feet . . . only during the last 50 feet . . . only while making the turn.

11. If you are making a turn on a very bright and sunny day, it is considered safest to: use electric signal . . . use hand-and-arm signal . . . sound horn instead of signaling.

12. Under the "basic speed law" you may never drive faster than: the posted speed limit . . . the flow of traffic . . . it is safe.

13. You are required to make a financial responsibility report after an accident where damage to one of the vehicles is over $100: whether or not it was your fault . . . only if it was your fault . . . only if you are not insured.

14. When you come to a corner where there is a flashing yellow light you must: slow down and cross carefully . . . stop before crossing . . . wait for the green light.

ANSWERS:

1. The car on your right.
2. On a curve.
3. 25 miles per hour.
4. Increase your speed.
5. Only when it is safe.
6. Turning left or passing.
7. 65 miles per hour.
8. Center of the roadway.
9. Stop at all times.
10. During the last 100 feet.
11. Use hand-and-arm signal.
12. It is safe.
13. Whether or not it was your fault.
14. Slow down and cross carefully.

Add Walnuts To Cookies

If your favoriee "chill 'n roll" butter cookie recipe doesn't call for walnuts, just add one cup finely chopped California walnuts for every three cups flour. See what a difference it will make.

Remember the thinner you roll the dough, the crisper the cookies will be.

Easy Dessert

Cover drained, canned cling peach slices with grenadine syrup (use the peach juice in a jellied salad) and chill. At serving time stir in coarsely chopped California walnuts and spoon over thick slices of vanilla ice cream.

Keeping Bees Big Business

Beekeeping in this vast state of California is really a big business, not just a hobby for the family that has leisure time on their hands.

This past season over 41 million pounds of honey were produced by more than one thousand commercial beekeepers in California. These producers operate about 10 per cent of the nation's colonies and obtain about the same percentage of our national quota of honey.

The average western full-time beekeeper operates from 1,200 to 1,500 colonies of bees. This keeps him on the move most of the year, as many producers rent their bees to ranchers to help increase agricultural crops.

Through the pollination efforts of the bees, producers of honey play a very important role in the agricultural economy of the state.

For every dollar bees earn the beekeeper they provide the rancher many untold times this value through pollination.

It is conservatively estimated that in California alone, crops valued at over $200,000,000 require insect pollination, mainly that of the honey bee. More than 200,000 colonies of bees are used annually for pollination of commercial crops in the state.

These facts support the assertion by the United States Department of Agriculture that "the fertilization of flowers is so imperative that beekeeping must be carried on to maintain a profitable agriculture," and emphasize that a healthy beekeeping industry is essential to much of the agriculture of the nation.

The production of honey, beeswax, queens, and package bees is itself of considerable economic value. Beekeepers nationally have approximately $170,000,000 invested in beekeeping and supporting equipment, buildings, and land; and produce honey and beeswax valued at $30,000,000 to $40,000,000 annually, as well as package bees and queens valued at about $2,000,000 annually.

Once the honey is produced and ready for the consumer, honey producers and packers are faced with the necessity of acquainting the public of the value of including honey in their daily menu planning.

For the past thirteen years the California Honey Advisiory Board has carried on a self-help program of promotion and reasearch for extracted honey.

This program is entirely self-supporting through assessments paid by producers and packer. It is under the supervision of the Bureau of Marketing, Department of Agriculture.

Curacao Still A Favorite

Curacao, long a cruise leader in the Caribbean, will be among the favorite cruise destinations again this year according to announcements by major steamship companies serving the Caribbean cruise season from October, 1966, through April, 1967.

According to advance forecast, the number of cruise visitors this year to Curacao will increase more than 15 per cent over the 1965-'66 season.

Several new developments in the Curacao cruise picture are responsible for this optimistic outlook. Among these are the first two visits to Curacao of Cunard's "Queen Elzabeth" with a cruise capacity of 1,000 each sailing in January and February, 1967; five visits of the Italian Line's "Leonardo da Vinci," whose cruise capacity is 650, in December, 1966, January and February, 1967, and five visits during the coming season by Atlantic Cruise Line's "Federico C" whose capacity is 650.

The conservative over-all estimate is that more than 70,000 U.S .cruise passengers will visit Curacao this year during the seven-month October-April season, as compared with 59,124 U.S. cruise visitors during all 12 months of 1965.

Cruise passengers wishing to take advantage of Curacao's exceptional shopping facilities will find that the shops will open even on Sundays to accommodate cruise arrivals on that day.

Literature on Curacao, including the 1966-67 Cruise List and a new Advice to Shoppers folder, may be obtained from the Curacao Information Center, 604 Fifth Avenue, New York, N.Y., 10020.

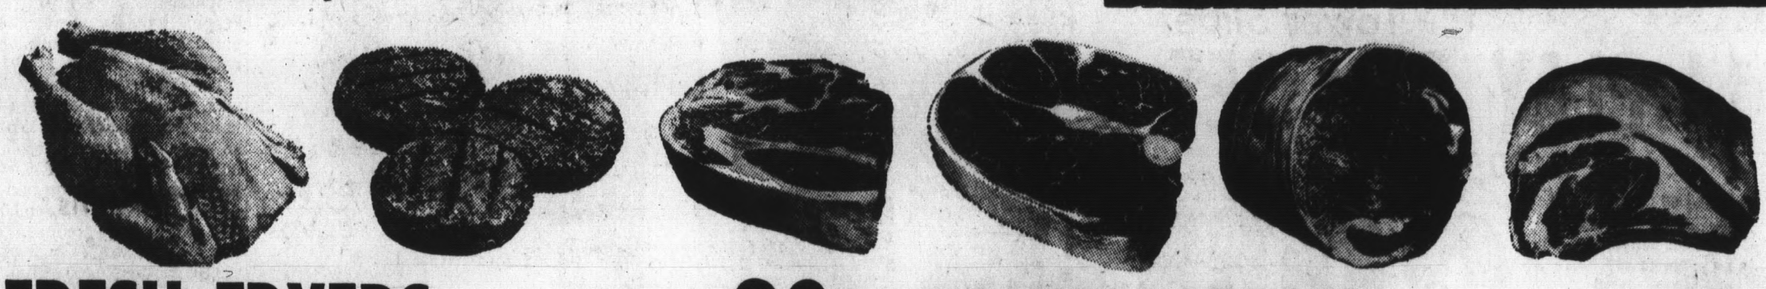

The decline in dairy herds will continue as long as production units too small to generate satisfactory incomes exist, say Pennsylvania State University economists.

Chamber at D.C. Fails To Support Bayshore Project

The vast bayside project proposed by Pacific Air Commerce Center was lauded, though not endorsed, by Daly City Chamber of Commerce directors at their luncheon meeting last Thursday.

The concensus was that the Chamber could not yet endorse the mammoth bayfront development planned by David Rockefeller, along with Crocker Land Company and Ideal Cement Company.

Last month Daly City Chamber officials, along with representatives from other Chambers of Commerce throughout the north county, were given a preview of the $500 million development.

The project would include an air cargo center, light industry, marina-type residential and apartment complexes and recreational and scenic developments. It would necessitate additional filling of the Bay, with a portion of the fill material expected to come from San Bruno Mountain, owned by the Crocker interests.

The presentation last month by Warren Lindquist, president of PACC, was described by Chamber Executive Secretary Peter Markovich as "excellent." Although Markovich conceded that there had been some vocal criticism of the development, he concluded that "I feel, as far as the chamber is concerned, this project should go in there."

President John Wuerthner echoed Markovich's remarks, observing that, "I was quite impressed with these people's presentation. I think the project would enhance the beauty of the Peninsula and be a tremendous asset to San Mateo County."

Director David Friedenberg, while agreeing that he was also "impressed" with the preview showing, cautioned Markovich — "It is not quite correct to indicate the chamber's approval of this project at this date. I'm not opposed to it, but I'm not going to give my personal approval until some questions are answered."

"If this project is approved," Friedenberg queried, "how do you stop hundreds of other similar projects around the bay. The master plans show beautiful recreation facilities and promises donations of land. But who installs these facilities. We need concrete proposals. Some of these recreation lands may even lie underwater."

James Grealish applauded the presentation, terming Lindquist a "knowledgeable speaker."

Elmer Venturini was also highly laudatory of the preview showing, but said the possible "defacing of San Bruno mountain could pose the biggest problem."

Wuerthner promised further study of the project by the board before any consideration of a Chamber endorsement would be given.

Pacific Air Commerce Meeting Set

Representatives of Pacific Air Commerce Center have been asked to meet with the County Parks and Recreation Commission February 8 to discuss apparent conflicts between their respective plans.

Ralph Shaw, parks and recreation director, told the commission that PAC's plans for bayfront development in the Burlingame-San Mateo area appear to conflict with the county's plans for development of Coyote Point regional park in several respects. For example, Shaw said, PAC's proposal calls for a road to cut through the middle of an area the county intends to develop for recreation.

"I'm afraid that unless we discuss these problems now," Shaw said, "things may get pushed along and we will find ourselves involved in a plan we're not in favor of."

Al Pfaff was elected chairman for 1967 at the commission meeting Wednesday and Arthur Ryan was named secretary.

At the request of Dietrich C. Schroeder, the commission asked for a study meeting with the Board of Supervisors and County Manager E. R. Stallings concerning Pillar Point Harbor.

Schroeder said he wanted to know what the county has done about the harbor since it took over the operation after the County Harbor District was dissolved last June.

Shaw said it was his understanding that the harbor was to have been turned over to his department but that its administration appears instead to have been placed in the Building Construction and General Services Department headed by Henry Tarratt.

The commission agreed to take some kind of action at its February meeting to go on record as favoring the perpetual maintenance of the 23,000-acre Crystal Springs watershed as open space. Shaw urged that the county try to obtain a "first right of refusal" which would give the county the opportunity to buy the land if and when it ever became available for other than its present use. The land is owned by San Francisco and is protected to assure the purity of the water supply in Crystal Springs lakes.

Coast Public Safety Vetoed

A special citizen's police-fire study committee Wednesday night filed its final report that recommended against unification of Pacifica police and fire services into a public safety department "at this time."

The report to city councilmen suggested, however, that "renewed consideration" be given the matter when the city's financial picture is brighter.

The committee was formed in August, 1966, under the chairmanship of Ray Logan, who resigned in September and was replaced by Nationiel Marks, over whose signature as chairman this week's report was submitted.

It was charged with determining all aspects of both separate and unified police and fire service departments — particularly the feasibility and economic forces involved in each.

In addition to correspondence and interviews, a field trip was taken to Sunnyvale, where unification of services is well established.

There, the committee, accompanied by Fire Chief Edwin Greer and Police Chief Neil Tremaine, talked at length with the chief of the Public Safety Department — toured facilities and interviewed other personnel.

The report cited both advantages and disadvantages of separate servicing, as well as partial and full unification of services.

Cost, quality of service, recruitment, training, morale, housing, supervisions, and patterns of response were studied by the committee, Marks pointed out in the final report.

The council took it under advisement.

Pacifica Housing Plan Set

Pacifica city councilmen voted for a municipal Housing Authority — "a tool for varied things" — at its meeting last Wednseday.

The vote, however, was not unanimous.

James Fox voted against the Authority, under which, officials noted, a number of "things" might possibly be achieved, including application for federal senior housing complex funds.

Fox questioned "whether or not the council agrees" a local Housing Authority "is something we need." He wondered if the County Housing Authority should be used instead.

He noted, "I'm frankly undecided on this."

Mayor Harland Minshew thought the council should be aware of the program, particularly as it might involve senior citizens, inasmuch as the council twice has taken the necessary action to put a senior citizen housing measure on the ballot.

"You've had an opportunity to come to a decision," the mayor explained to Fox.

The resolution that authorizes formation of an authority, as prepared by City Attorney Conrad Reisch, holds that "insanitary and unsafe inhabilitated dwelling accommodations exist in the city of Pacifica" and that "there is a shortage of safe and sanitary dwelling accommodations in (the city) . . . available to persons of low income at rentals they can afford."

Daly City's Greenblat Is Appointed

Arleigh Greenblat of Daly City has been appointed West Coast urban representative for the National Education Association, the organization has announced.

Greenblat, who resides with his wife and two children at 332-A Higate Drive, is a former junior high school teacher and is currently associate executive secretary of the San Francisco Classroom Teachers' Association.

His wife is the former Josephine Gandert of Colma.

He attended Lowell High School, City College of San Francisco, and San Francisco State College, and holds a masters degree in counseling and guidance. He is a member of Phi Delta Kappa and Epsilon Pi Tau honor fraternities.

While attending San Francisco State College, Greenblat received the "outstanding student" award.

TO BE BAR MITZVAH

David Silverman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Silverman, 115 Lake Vista, Daly City, will be Bar Mitzvah at services on Friday, January 20, at the Temple on Brotherhood Way. Services begin at 8:30 p.m.

Chamber To Lose Funds From S.M.?

Daly City Chamber of Commerce directors were angered last week at reports that the organization's annual $600 grant from San Mateo County was going to be withdrawn this year.

Reporting at the board's monthly luncheon meeting, Chamber Executive Sec. Pete Markovich said he had been told by County Mgr. Robert Stallings that the $600 would not be budgeted this year.

Markovich said the Chamber's funds were being "eliminated" because the City of Daly City had refused to grant 25 per cent of its newly adopted hotel-motel tax to the county's proposed convention bureau.

Bernard Lycett, a C of C director and also mayor of Daly City, leveled his criticism at Supervisor Jean Fassler of Pacifica: "This is a perfect example of a job for your supervisor representative from your area — she's our representative and we're dealing with the county. I sat there at lunch with two of the supervisors and they promised this money to us." (Supervisors Fassler and Louis Chess appeared at the Chamber's Government Day" luncheon last spring.)

Markovich declared that the City of Daly City's reluctance to turn 25 per cent of the hotel-motel tax money over to the county had nothing to do with the Chamber. "I can't understand the county's attitude," he said.

"The San Mateo County Development Associaton gets over $27,000," Mrkovich continued. "Granted, they do a great job, but everytime our Chamber publicizes Daly City, we're helping to publicize San Mateo County."

After directors unanimously approved a motion by David Friedenberg to direct a letter to Mrs. Fassler requesting that the $600 be re-instated, Chamber Pres. John Wuerthner pledged to "take whatever action necessary."

Edward Morgan, past president of the Chamber, reminded fellow directors that since the county works on a fiscal year budget, the Chamber on a calendar year, "we've still got six months to work this out. Mrs. Fassler and Chess are people of their word."

Markovich then agreed that the two supervisors "might not know anything about" the withdrawal of the $600 funds.

New, Broad Charter Study In the Offing

Another attempt to win voter approval of wholesale changes in the county charter was started last week by the County Board of Supervisors.

The board agreed to appoint a commission to make another study of the much-studied but seldom-amended charter.

The last effort of the kind ended in almost total failure. In April of 1961 the voters of the county turned down all but one of 14 amendments proposed following a two-year study by a commission named by the board. The one change that was approved by the voters only eliminated some obsolete language from the charter and that measure got through by a narrow margin.

A demand by the North San Mateo County Council of Cities for action on their proposal that supervisors be elected by district rather than at large led to the decision to appoint the study group. County Manager E. R. Stallings had informed the council that he had been attempting, unsuccessfully, to persuade some impartial organization to make an independent review and evaluation of the proposal.

Narcotics Agents To Speak at Two District Schools

California State Narcotics Bureau agents will speak to P-TA groups at two North Peninsula high schools Thursday night on juvenile drug addiction.

Agent William Walker will speak at the Terra Nova High School in Pacifica at the regular meeting beginning at 8 p.m. The agent will present a color film, and speak on the problem of youthful narcotics law enforcement.

No one under 16 will be admitted to the Pacifica meeting, and high school students will be admitted only when accompanied by their parents.

The meeting will be followed by a question and answer period.

Mrs. Charles L. Starr, president of the Terra Nova High School P-TA, said more than 20 Pacifica teen-agers have been arrested on narcotics charges during the past year, and addiction is "becoming a tremendous problem.

"Suddenly this isn't something which happens only to the residents of a San Francisco slum area," she said. "It is happening right here in Pacifica."

Another state agent will speak to the Westmoor High School P-TA Thursday night on "Narcotics: Their Use and Abuse." In addition to the Narcotics Bureau speaker, Westmoor P-TA members will hear an assessment of the local narcotics situation from Sgt. Colbmonn of the Daly City Police Department.

The Westmoor meeting begins at 8 p.m. in the school cafeteria. Moderators will be P-TA President Mrs. Jean Markovich and Mrs. Leo Lewis, program chairman for the meeting.

Skyline Plaza Lounge OK'd

Daly City has approved a use permit at Skyline Plaza for a cocktail lounge operation in connection with a restaurant.

The city council concurred with a Planning Commission recommendation, following a public hearing, that the request of Henry Doelger Building, Inc., be granted.

"The Planning Commission finds that the cocktail lounge will not be detrimental to the general welfare of the city, or injurious to property and improvements in the neighborhood, provided all requirements of the zoning Ordinance are Met," the planners noted in a letter recommending approval.

AUTHORITIES say transactions such as the one pictured here are becoming more and more commonplace in the North Peninsula area as use of narcotics by teen-agers steadily increases. For a few dollars, a high school student can purchase LSD, marijuana, or other "mind expanding" drugs. State narcotics agents will speak at two separate P-TA meetings Thursday night at Terra Nova High School and Westmoor High.

OVER NINETY-FIVE percent completed is Daly City's three-level City Hall, already landscaped at its Nineteenth and Sullivan Avenue location. Crewmen are working inside the neo-classic structure, textured of natural rock. Completion still is anticipated by February 15, with formal dedication planned for May 20. Total cost of the project, which provides space under a single roof for Daly City's many spread-out departments and agencies—plus storage space—will be $2,252,981. Post Photo).

Appraisal Cut For Police Station Site

Appraisers have lowered valuations of the Laguna Salada Union School District property selected as the first choice for Pacifica's new police station, Superintendent Frederick Lucas said last Tuesday.

The new valuations on the property by two separate appraisers are $45,780 and $46,150.

City Councilmen rejected the original $48,000 appraisal on the property last month, and said the city "will not go over $45,000."

Former City Manager Karl Baldwin evaluated the property at $42,000. However, the school district has included a strip of land on the west side of city hall now used as a parking lot.

The site is currently used as a parking lot and garage for the school district's buses.

State law requires that a school district receive the highest appraisal on any property sold. Lucas said Tuesday the new figures offered by appraisers were described as "firm figures," and not likely to be lowered further.

The council will consider the new appraisals at the regular meeting tonight.

Dope Charge To SSF Boy

South San Francisco Police Wednesday turned over to juvenile authorities, at Hillcrest, a 16-year-old boy from their community on charges he sold and possessed marijuana.

Police officials said the juvenile had been under surveillance for several days.

They said the youth, who does not attend school, sold the narcotics to "a couple of other teenagers."

He possessed, police said, a small amout of mairjuana.

MARKINGS

Zoologists have found that tiger, zebra and giraffe markings suggest human fingerprints. No two sets are alike.

$7,000 Is Ticketed To Begin Overpass

Trustees of the South San Francisco Unified School District adopted a resolution granting the city $7,000 toward construction of the Junipero Serra Boulevard-Clay Avenue pedestrian overpass last Monday.

City Manager Eugene Aiello said Tuesday his office had not been notified of the offer of funds, and "it was totally unexpected at this time."

The city has been negotiating terms with the California Highway Department on the overpass for several weeks.

"We are hoping the highway department will build the overpass," Aiello said, "and they will in all probability pay at least some part of the project cost."

The City manager said the council has discussed the possibility of asking the school district for assistance in meeting the cost of the overpass, but councilmen "had not intended to request funds from the district until the state reveals what portion of the expense must be born locally."

"We had planned to ask the district for half the amount not provided by the state," he said.

The project is expected to cost approximately $75,000.

The city council was petitioned for an overpass by 2,200 residents of the area, when 6-year-old Linda Reid was struck by a car and killed at the crossing last October.

Linda was the third child killed at the crossing in three years.

Aiello said a report on theoverpass project from a highway department survey team "is expected in the near future."

A survey on the traffic situation at the intersection was conducted in 1964, when two children were killed within an eight-day period. At that time, the highway department recommended the traffic signals which are now located at the intersection as an alternative.
